WAR TAX BILL REPORTED TO THE SENATE

OVER TWO BILLION IN THE BUDGET PUT TOGETHER FOR WAR

Increases Amount Proposed by the House Bill About $150,000,000 and Hits Wealth Some.

TAX ON WAR PROFITS CLAIMED MILD

Washington, Aug. 6.—The war tax bill finally revised to meet latest estimates, was favorably reported today by the senate finance committee. It proposes to raise $2,006,970,000 by taxation.

The house bill proposed $1,867,000,000 in new taxes. No provision for additional bonds to be considered later by the house are made in the senate bill.

Chairman Simmons plans to call up the revised bill for debate the latter part of the week and hopes for its final enactment by congress early next month.

Where Weight Lies.

Most of the next taxes proposed under the revised bill for war expenses of the present fiscal year would come from incomes, war excess profits, liquor and tobacco taxes. The revised senate bill strikes out the retroactive tax upon last year's incomes but principally by increasing surtaxes on wealthy persons and by doubling the normal tax on corporations, proposes to raise $77,000,000 in addition to the $330,000,000 secured from incomes. It proposes a levy of $662,000,000 on war profits and extends the tax to the individual in trade of business as well as corporations. The tax on distilled spirits of $100,000,000 is raised to $135,000,000, that on beer from $37,500,000 to $46,000,000 and that on wines from $6,000,000 to $21,000,000. A prohibitive tax on further manufacture or importation of distilled beverages also is provided.

Features Retained.

The original senate provision for an increase of one-fourth of one per cent a pound in publishers' mailing rates and a five per cent tax upon their net incomes over $4,000 in lieu of the house

Summary of the Day's War News

Yesterday's tremendous cannonade on the Flanders battle front was followed last night by two German attempts to shake the British from their hold on important sections of newly won ground. Neither of these met with any success, whatever, London reports.

The first attack was launched in the Houtholte region. The Germans did not even succeed here in reaching the British lines. Later the German guns laid down a barrage at Westhoek and the infantry tried to push in under its cover. They met with no more success, however, than they had done at Houtholte.

On the French front aside from the Flanders area there was considerable activity on the part of the Germans. They made attacks in the region of Bouville at Avocourt wood and in Alsace. The French guns were able to

PARIS NEWSPAPER ADVISES AMERICA ON MONEY MATTERS

Paris, Aug. 6.—The Journal des Debats in a prominent review of finance calls attention that it is America's imperative duty to recognize obligations towards France which it cannot escape and that it must open credits to the allies as large as may be required, without which they cannot continue the war. The article points out that the status of the United States is different now that she is in the war and says that it must not expect the Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 6.—United States District Attorney McGinnis announced that the men arrested on charges of resistance to the draft in connection with the Oklahoma uprising would be tried for treason and that the death penalty would be asked by the government. District Attorney McGinnis has sent two deputy attorneys to the infested district of the state to gather evidence.

SCENE OF TROUBLE SHIFTS.

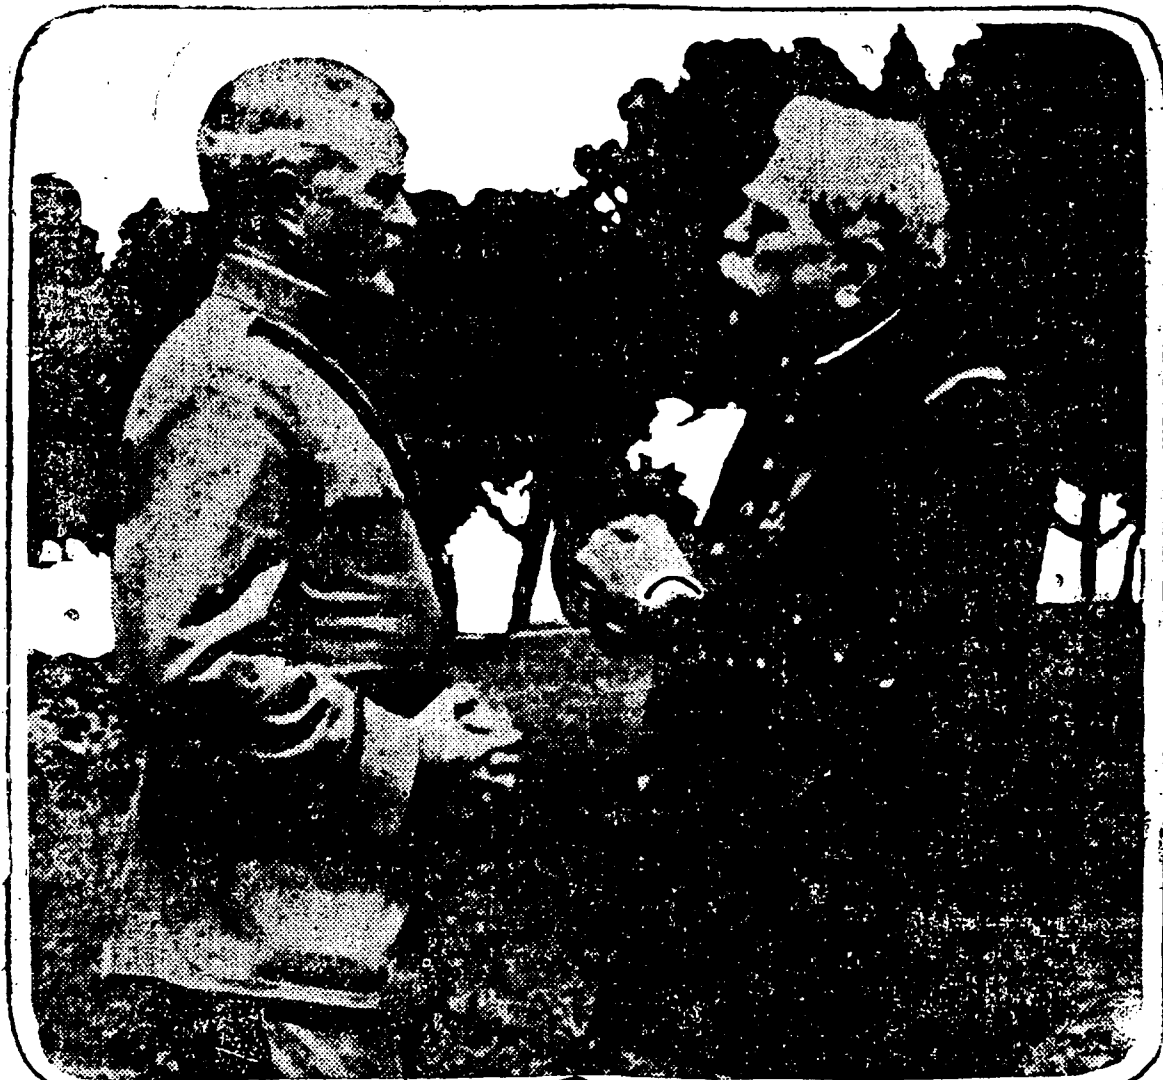

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 6.—The center of the uprising of the armed bands of objectors to the selective draft which for nearly a week has spread terror through four central southern Oklahoma counties, changed today from Seminole county to Hughes county, where two men were killed and two were injured last night.

Shortly before midnight Ed Blaylock, an objector, was shot to death near Holdenville and two members of the posse which his band encountered were wounded.

Later, J. F. Moose, of Okemah, was shot and killed as he drove a motor

PERSHING DISCUSSES WAR PLANS WITH JOFFRE

When the Sammies take over their sector on the French front they will profit by the experience of France and Britain. There is scarcely a day that General Pershing is not in conference with French or British officers getting "inside" pointers on how the greatest fight in the world is being carried on. The determination of Pershing that American troops shall not be found wanting at the front is shown in the set of his jaw as he listens to Field Marshal Joffre's description of needs on the western front. Note, too, the way their hands are clasped.

Amsterdam, Aug. 6.—In a character sketch of Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann (just appointed secretary of foreign affairs), the Nieuwe Courant, of The Hague, says that Dr. von Kuehlmann has always been a vigorous opponent of ruthless submarine warfare. He is also, says the newspaper, a disciple of the policy of doing everything possible to avoid the further alienation of Great Britain, believing that after the war friendship between Great Britain and Germany is necessary to the latter. Dr. von Kuehlmann, the Nieuwe Courant says, is an anti-annexationist and the newspaper expressed the opinion that in the foreign secretaryship he will do his utmost to bring about an understanding with England at the earliest possible time.

MARRIAGE FAILS TO EXEMPT THIS YOUNG SLACKER

Cleveland, O., Aug. 6.—Chairman James F. Jackson, of Cuyahoga county exemption board No. 5, announced today that the exemption claim of Daniel E. Sadler, 26, has been denied on the ground that he was married since April 6, 1917. Sadler, who claimed exemption because of the dependency of his wife, was formally certified for service with the national army. Of seventy-six exemption claims considered by three local boards, one was refused, twenty-five granted and fifty deferred. The ruling that all but enemy aliens who do not claim exemption can be drafted the same as citizens is expected to prove a boon in several Cleveland districts which contain more aliens than citizens.

Out of Town.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 6.—Following the delivery of a speech in Elberfeld, a small town north of here, Saturday night, Frank S. Lamont, socialist candidate for mayor of Evansville, was chased several miles by six men in an automobile, who are believed to have been bent on lynching. For the past two weeks Lamont has been making speeches throughout southern Indiana in which he advised conscripted men that they do not have to go to war. He declares that the conscription bill is unconstitutional. Lamont had just finished his talk at Elberfeld and got into a machine with his wife and baby preparatory to returning here when the car containing six men appeared on the street. One of the men yelled at Lamont, who, fearing bodily harm, ordered his driver to proceed. For three miles over country roads the machine sped at a terrific rate of speed. At a turn when his car was hidden from the pursuers, Lamont, his wife and baby got out and the driver continued with the other machine in pursuit. The Lamonts spent the night at a farm house. Last night Lamont delivered a talk at Armstrong, which was very tame in comparison with others he has been giving. At the conclusion of his talk, John J. Nolan, postmaster of Evansville, took the platform and raked Lamont over the coals for his unpatriotic stand. Nolan was loudly cheered by the assembly and Lamont wasted little time in getting out of town.

MUST CALL FOUR TIMES AS MANY MEN AS NEEDED

Approximately 24 Per Cent of Men
Examined Likely Candidates For National Army.

SECOND DISTRICT TO CALL 1,000 MEN

Fort Wayne buckled down in earnest Monday in the work of examining candidates for the first conscription army of the United States. All three city boards and the county board examined the young men Monday morning.

Of the number of men who were examined up until noon in all the four districts only twenty-six per cent of them are being rejected upon re-examination.

Of the seventy-four per cent of applicants who pass the test sixty-five per cent are claiming exemption.

The 35 per cent of men who therefore have passed the test and have waived exemption are the sure candidates for the conscription army.

The number of men who will without a doubt be called into army service are practically 24 per cent of the total number of men examined. This will make it necessary for the boards to call in approximately four times as many men as the district is supposed to furnish. District No. 2 expects to send notices to 1,000 men.

The districts are asked to furnish the following number of men: District No. 1, 121 men; District No. 2, 107 men; District No. 3, 153 men, and the county, 113 men. By multiplying these figures by four, any likely candidate for call can figure whether he is liable to be called in on the first draft or not.

The examining boards in the four districts are meeting in the following places: District No. 1, Elks temple; District No. 2, Harnar school; District No. 3, Hoagland school; county district, grand jury room, third floor of the Allen county court house.

Some Do Not Report.

In each of the four districts in the county it is reported that a few men who have been summoned have not reported as asked by the board. According to the law any man who is notified to appear for examination and fails to will be regarded as selected. If he fails to appear then when the call for service comes he will be termed a deserter and a deserter's fate in war time means a sentence to a federal prison.

It is thought, however, that the majority and perhaps all of those who have been requested to appear for examination have enlisted in the regular army. Work of checking up these men will be begun at once, say the chairmen of the respective boards.

Run Shy on Blanks.

All three boards in the city ran shy on examination blanks Monday morning. All three of them kept up their work until noon by making out blanks on the typewriter. A hurried order for 1,000 of the blanks was sent to Cleary & Bailey, printers, and they began work on them at once. It is believed that they would have them ready for delivery some time Monday afternoon.

CONGRESS WILL GET RECESS IF SENATE SPEEDS

Washington, Aug. 6.—A congressional recess in September is the goal towards which the leaders are now working. Before taking a vacation, however, congress must clean up important pending legislation.

The house already has cleared its slate of war legislation and is waiting for the senate to act. The most important of these measures are the conference reports on the food bills and the war tax bill. In addition some minor legislation may be taken up by the senate afterwards. Meantime the house will take a series of three day recesses, the first of which will begin tomorrow. Congress will take a recess of several weeks, according to current opinion.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

A PERFECT DAY WAS THE BOWSER OUTING

Over 2,000 People Enjoyed Hospitality of the "Old Man" Saturday.

The annual outing at Winona Lake of the employees of S. F. Bowser & Co. Saturday was more largely attended than any of the previous events of the kind and equalled, if it did not surpass, all others in a pleasurable way. Not a single accident or incident happened to mar the happiness of every one in the party and especially to S. F. Bowser, whose beaming countenance and hearty greetings, indicated the enjoyment he got out of witnessing the enjoyment of the men, women and children. There were fully 2,000 people in the crowd, counting the children not required to get railway tickets. From the time the first train deposited its load of humanity at the Winona station until the last train left on the homeward trip in the evening, there was one round of merriment. The elaborate program of athletic and aquatic contests arranged for the occasion was given to the latter and some of the feats would have been a credit to professional athletes, so well were they performed by the contestants. The expenses of the entire outing—railroad fare and entrance to the grounds included—were paid by S. F. Bowser, and the company allowed the office and shop force the same wages they would be entitled to were they at work. Bowser is popular with his employees and right he should be, for no employer ever made greater efforts to look after the welfare and enjoyment of his employees than he.

MANY WANT JOBS.

Hundreds of Women Want Work at Pennsylvania Shops.

While application of local women for work at the Pennsylvania shops is falling off slightly, applicants in other cities are getting busy, indicating that hundreds of them are ready and willing to come here to work in the railway shops. Frank S. Doriot, chief clerk for Master Mechanic E. P. Griest, received thirty-five applications by mail this morning, coming from all parts of the central states. Many of the letters contained clippings of the story of the company's determination to hire women as it was sent out by the Associated Press and published in the city papers. All will be answered.

SHOCKED BY LIGHTNING.

Miss Cora Philley, of the shipping department of the General Electric works, was given quite a fright Sunday when lightning struck the home of her father, H. A. Philley, residing two miles out on the Decatur interurban line. The bolt completely demolished the tall chimney of the house, sending brick, mortar and pieces of tiling all over the adjacent lawn, and putting the electric lights and telephone out of commission. Miss Philley was standing near the switch and electric apparatus in the house and this was thrown open with a crash, shocking her slightly and frightening her considerably. Fortunately the house did not take fire.

GETTING READY FOR WOMEN.

Contractor Fred Kruckenberg began the work of raising the roof on the washroom and toilet building at the Pennsylvania machine and tank shops at the foot of Barr street for a second story, in which to locate a washroom and toilet room for the women who are to be employed in the shops as soon as this work has been completed. The room will be fitted up in sanitary style and will be 17x60 feet in dimensions.

ALL HER CHILDREN HERE.

This is the first time in seven years that all of the Lagerman children have been together and sometime during the week a family reunion will be held.

DEMOLISHED A BUGGY.

A runaway horse, attached to a buggy, dashed across the Pennsylvania tracks on Washington street, Gary, last night just ahead of train No. 19. The animal escaped, but the buggy was struck by the engine and smashed into smithereens. There was nobody in it. The horse broke from his fastenings up the street a few blocks from the road and ran away.

PETER NEUMAN RECOVERS.

Peter Neuman, machinist at the Pennsylvania erecting shop, resumed work this morning after an absence of three months, as a result of a fall. He was picking cherries at Warsaw one day, when the limb upon which he was standing broke and precipitated him to the ground, fifteen feet below, injuring him severely. He has completely recovered.

DAMAGED BY THE STORM.

Some of the ventilators at the Pennsylvania round house and the glass in some of the windows were broken by the wind storm which struck the round house Sunday afternoon. The crash created considerable excitement among the employees, but none was hurt. Master Carpenter D. C. Zook set some of his carpenters at work today making repairs.

Commenting on these wages a machinist who began work at his trade fifteen years ago said: "I received seven cents per hour the first year I worked at the trade and had to work ten hours per day."

MRS. MARY PALAMY AND CHILDREN.

Staff Special.
Chicago, Aug. 6.—Poverty has driven Mrs. Mary Palamy to give away her six children for adoption, so they may escape the suffering through which she has gone.
Mrs. Palamy advertised for foster-parents and the next morning a crowd of willing mothers gathered at her home. By noon, each of the six children had found new parents, while more men and women called to see them during the day.

The children range from the age of 1 to 9. Each has gone to a different home. John, the oldest, ran away from his new home and wanted to remain poor, but he was induced to return.

HERE ARE SOME OF UNCLE SAM'S NEW SOLDIERS AT WORK
LEARNING HOW TO "DID IN" SOMEWHERE IN AMERICA

Trenching is one of the first sciences of modern war-making. The United States officers' training camps exist to teach war science. Dirt on the khaki and blisters on the hands do not interfere. But these Sammies, out of law offices and clothing stores and other soft-handed pursuits, grin as they dig. This is the grin which Sammy has already made famous in France, and these are some of the men who will keep it smiling there.

THE LOAD!

Coming to work this morning, I saw a delivery kid about twelve years old imitating a freight elevator. He was trying to navigate with two leather boxes a little bit bigger than the wood packages planes come in. Along came a wagon going in the kid's direction. It had the tail-gate down, and the kid staggered out and hoisted the boxes up on the tail-gate. The hard-boiled driver turns around and yells to the kid, "Git off'n there! Don't y' tink dis Plug's got a heavy enough load tuh drag without yer freight!" The driver was right. That load of fat and ivory on the seat with a whip in his hand was a load. The kid hops off with his camel load and went back to hoofing again. A few minutes down the street the driver started walloping the daylight out of his horse because it wasn't moving fast enough to please the fathead.

DECATUR MAN KILLED BY AN ERIE TRAIN

Two Others Are Seriously Hurt in Accident at a Grade Crossing.

Decatur, Ind., Aug. 6.—Charles Wertberger, 33 years old, is dead and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice Harmon, 60 years old, and wife, Mrs. Charles Wertberger, were seriously injured when the carriage in which they were riding was hit by a freight train on the Erie railroad on a grade crossing two miles west of here.

Wertberger was killed instantly. Mrs. Harmon received injuries about the head and body, while Mrs. Wertberger received minor bruises and sprains.

Wertberger evidently did not see the freight train that was backing as he drove directly in the path of the cars. Mrs. Harmon was caught in the wreckage, while her daughter, Mrs. Wertberger, was thrown some distance from the track. The carriage was completely demolished.

The deceased was a laborer and was a brother of Mrs. Clarence Baughman, of this city. Mrs. Harmon resides in Hammond.

WILL MEET AT BLUFFTON.

Effort Will Be Made to Save the C. B. & C.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 6.—Representative business men in all the towns along the C. B. & C. will meet in this city Wednesday evening, August 15, at 7:30. The purpose of the meeting will be an attempt to devise some way of keeping the line in running order, which can probably only be done by the organization of a company to buy in and maintain the road. The road is to sell September 24, with no restrictions, and unless something is done the equipment will be sold to junk dealers, which will, of course, mean that the rails will be taken up and the right-of-way turned over to the farmers. To Bluffton, as well as the other towns along the line, this will work a great hardship, and it is the purpose of the meeting in this city to plan for keeping the road. Huntington, Portland, Pennville and the smaller towns along the route will be well represented, it is thought.

GANGRENE CAUSES DEATH.

Portland, Ind., Aug. 6.—Mallin Ridgway, 74, is dead after a month's illness of gangrene of the left leg. Mr. Ridgway had been a resident of Jay county for sixty-nine years and had lived in the city for 31 years. He leaves his aged wife and the following children: Elmer, of Portland; Walter, at home; and Nora, wife of Dan Ferris, of Lima, O. Three brothers, Joe, of Knox township; Charles, of Portland, Ore.; and George, of Redkey, also survive. A sister, Mrs. Matilda Badger, resides at Redkey. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Church of the Brethren, in charge of Rev. D. F. Hirt.

DEMANDS $500 DAMAGES.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 6.—Damages for $500 are demanded in a suit filed by Edward R. Eckstein, of Fort Wayne, against Walter B. Grove, a local automobile dealer, and Homer Kapp, a local grocer. Eckstein charges the Bluffton residents with being responsible for the demolition of his Ford car in a collision that occurred at the corner of Washington and Webster streets in Fort Wayne May 23, 1917. He sets out in his complaint that he was driving at a speed of about six miles an hour when the car owned by Kapp and driven by Grove struck his car. He alleges that the Bluffton car was running at a speed of fully thirty-five miles an hour.

EXAMINING CONSCRIPTS.

Albion, Ind., Aug. 6.—Examining of those drafted for service in Uncle Sam's new army started here this morning. Twenty-eight are scheduled to appear today, twenty-nine on Tuesday and twenty-nine on Wednesday. Several of the young men whose numbers were in the first call, have enlisted in the regular army and the two companies of the national guardsmen, A. of Albion, and D. of Kendallville. The Noble county conscription board is composed of W. H. Woods, of Lionier, president; Attorney T. A. Redmond, of Kendallville, clerk, and Dr. Woodward Hayes, of Albion, examining physician.

BLUFFTON MAN SERIOUSLY HURT.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 6.—Frank Studabaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Studabaker, of Bluffton, was seriously hurt when his roadster rolled down a twelve-foot embankment near South Milford, Kosciusko county. He was pinned beneath the car and lay there for half an hour before help arrived. He was found by Lewis Lebig, a farmer. It is thought Studabaker lost control of the car. Some years ago he lost one hand in an accident with a giant cracker on the Fourth of July. It is feared he cannot recover.

STORM IN NOBLE COUNTY.

Kendallville, Ind., Aug. 6.—Considerable damage was done by two storms that visited Noble county Sunday. In the first storm, that occurred about 2 o'clock, the home of M. L. Daub was struck by lightning, setting the roof on fire, which was quickly extinguished by the fire department. The second storm, which occurred about 5 o'clock, was more severe than the first and lasted for about half an hour. Much damage was done to the corn.

QUOTA IS RAISED.

Van Wert, Ohio, Aug. 6.—The Van Wert county conscription board has been officially notified of an increase in this county's quota for the new army to be created under the conscription law. The new proclamation raises Van Wert county's quota from fifty-eight to sixty-three and necessitates an increase of ten in the number of registered men to be called for examination this morning.

HOMER MILLS DROWNS AT TRI-LAKE SUNDAY

Young Boy Sinks Unnoticed by His Brothers or Any One of Many Bathers.

Sinking below the water unnoticed by either his brothers or any of the many bathers, Homer Mills, aged 14 years, son of Frank E. Mills, 3810 Fairfield avenue, drowned near the pier of Staples hotel at Shiner Lake of the Tri-Lake resort Sunday afternoon. His body was recovered an hour and a half later. Young Mills was a carrier of The Sentinel.

Homer with his two brothers, Robert and Burton, who are both younger, had gone into the water to seek relief from the heat. One of them was able to swim. The two younger boys noticed that their brother was missing and, frightened, ran to their father on the shore and told him where they last saw Homer.

Bathers and men who owned motor boats lent their assistance at once and the Fort Wayne police were called for assistance. Cy Andrews, the patrol driver, who is experienced in recovering drowned bodies, was rushed to the lake with the police grappling hooks.

Shortly before he arrived Walter Homeld in a boat with A. M. Johnson brought up the body after it had slipped off the hooks three times. Dr. A. B. Williams worked with the boy for some time endeavoring to resuscitate him, but his efforts were of no avail. Coroner J. B. Briggs, of Chubbuck, was called after which the body was brought to Fort Wayne.

The deceased is survived by the parents and the two brothers.

IOWA TOWN SCENE OF A REDHOT WAR RIOT

Several Citizens Are Put Under Arrest Charged With Treason.

Lowden, Ia., Aug. 3.—Four persons, three of them past 60 years, were arrested by federal officers yesterday and charged with treason and resisting the government. Half a dozen others were questioned and it was announced more arrests were expected. This action followed an outbreak that approached a riot between citizens and pro-Germans Wednesday night.

The prisoners are: Albert Schaffer, 65, retired farmer; William Reichman, 66, furniture dealer; Ernest Meier, 65, retired farmer; and Carl Gerhl, 36, farmer. All are reputed to be wealthy.

United States Marshal Moore and Deputy Healey arrived here from Cedar Rapids after they had been informed that this town of 700 population was a hotbed of sedition. Reichman has a son who enlisted in the army and he is reported to have said that he would rather see the boy dead than bearing arms against Germany.

The charges against the other men have not been made public. The trouble began early in July and it was said to have been accentuated by the dragging of a German flag behind an automobile in the Fourth of July parade. Feeling between the loyal and pro-German elements has increased since then, fanned by public and private utterances.

The mayor and marshal of the town and the sheriff of Cedar county were summoned to confer with the federal officers here.

CHEATING THE MAN.

There will be set up, of course, "all proper defenses" for Mrs. Bianca DeSaules, who slew her former husband, John Longer DeSaules, in his time famous as a Yale football player and later gaining some prominence in eastern politics and divorce courts. Already several lines for justification or mitigation of the beautiful Chilean woman's mad and bloody deed have been indicated. Insanity suggests itself as the readiest and best-tested of them and it appears to have been embraced without loss of time.

But there is something to be said, it may be discerned, for the memory of the woman's slain spouse. He was not without occasion against the lady whose love he disappointed and whose life he made a wreck of. Mr. DeSaules, it appears, had been cheated. The South American beauty, whose putative wealth shared about equally in giving her to fame with her ineffable charms of person, was not rich at all. Instead of having yoked his fate with untold millions, DeSaules had spent his time and his own not too abundant cash pursuing and wooing a woman whose prospects were no greater than half the women to be met on a hot afternoon at any bathing beach on the Jersey coast. Having found that the most "beautiful woman in the world" was not the daughter of Midas, the American athlete took his wrongs deeply to heart, nourished his bitter occasion and cherished resentment. He sought reparation on Broadway, where nepenthe is most readily to be had and—the rest is the usual story. Mrs. DeSaules stood it for awhile and then got a divorce. That gave Mr. DeSaules his freedom, but it could not reconstruct a life that had been cheated of money in dreamed-of sales. Mr. DeSaules could not forget nor could he let his divorced wife forget. So quarrels that led to the courts were continued until the wronged wife went crazy with excess of Latin temper.

It will become another celebrated case to take its place in the annals of wronged and murdering women along with others of ancient and modern times. The unfortunate Mr. DeSaules will not be on hand to make a defense of his good name and to bare his own bleeding heart and expose his own disappointments and wrongs at the hands of a woman who was taken to the embrace of his affections in the belief that she was bringing wealth untold and all its gilded easements into the life of a poor but eminent American young man, who wanted what was coming to him and merely "got strong" with the lady when he found he was not to have it.

The moral of it is, of course, that Chilean beauties and all others should be sure of their heirship before permitting American football players or impecunious celebrities of any sort or country to pursue them with grand passion over two or three continents and half around the world to make them and their prospects their own to have and to hold. Still, notwithstanding all that Mr. DeSaules must have gone through in the matter of blighted hopes and necessity to rustle his own bacon and eggs, we do not doubt that Mrs. DeSaules will be able through the interventions of competent lawyers to make out a sufficient case of dementia. The history of American jurisprudence offers a fine train of precedents upon which to build the hope and out of which to construct the defense. There is the rational misgiving that the affair will have to be made public, but there is the counteraction that the world is at war, which is likely to prove a usefulness in more respects than in merely making the world safe for democracy.

TAKE IT TO WASHINGTON.

It is stated that the reason Captain Harry Clark was not chosen to command of Battery B, of Fort Wayne, is that he declined to accept the commission. Another reason given is that he was wanting in certain qualification of learning. Fort Wayne people interested in obtaining a square deal for their city and its soldiers and fair treatment for Captain Clark and recognition of his desire to serve his country in the place where he would seem to be best fitted to serve, may pitch in and help themselves to their choice of these reasons.

Both reasons cannot be assigned. Captain Clark had been urged to accept the captaincy of Battery B and finally persuaded himself that it was his duty to do so. He asserts that he notified the adjutant general's office respecting that. And if the adjutant general's office felt in the first place that Captain Clark was a fit and qualified man for a captain's commission this is a tardy hour in which to justify kicking him out by saying he lacks education. That is a clumsy excuse at best and made more so by the floundering and wallowing Adjutant General Smith engages in when he attempts in one breath to say he has wanted Clark all the time and tried to get him and in the next breath says he is not a man of capable talents and education for a battery commander.

We hope this matter will not be allowed by Fort Wayne people to rest, but that it will be appealed to the war department. We do not believe that there is any patriotic obligation of this city to lie quietly under the insolence of General Smith's aspersion that Fort Wayne cannot produce men fit to be officers. If the policy of the military department of Indiana is to be continued as it has been pursued for the past month or two and specially as respects Fort Wayne and Fort Wayne soldiers, the sooner that is understood here the better. Fort Wayne has done and is doing her duty in all that relates to the national crisis and we do not believe there will be the least recession from that duty, but it ought to be that Fort Wayne can offer her duty without eliciting insolence, insult and suffering by prejudice of politics or other narrow concerns.

Again we say that the case of Captain Clark should be taken to the war department. Let him be judged fairly upon his merits as a gentleman and an officer. The day is not so long gone when the Indiana national guard felt that his service ornamented it.

THE DRAFT GOES WELL.

The conscription troubles in Oklahoma and in some narrow sections of southern states are more notable as isolated exceptions than as bare facts of resistance to the draft. There is a good deal of slacking and there are numerous claims for exemption throughout the country, but of physical resistance and open defiance of the law there are no instances of importance save in Oklahoma.

The trouble in the new state of the south-west lies almost wholly with an extremely miserable class of tenant farmers, long embittered by squalid poverty and sordid oppression, who have been joined by some half-breed Indians and a sprinkling of negroes. Altogether they have made up considerable mobs of ignorant and simple-minded persons who were easily seduced by absurd schemes for starting a revolution, seizing the land and making wealth and ease the portion of all. No doubt enemy agents have not been slow to assist this grotesque propaganda, but it may very well have all come about entirely free from any such sinister interventions. With classes of people of that sort it is no difficult matter to start impossible social and political movements.

The real state of the case is that the draft is proceeding with fine order and absence of trouble. It is an example to the whole people that a radical departure from all the usages and precedents of the government in levying troops has been accepted with such a ready acquiescence is proceeding without friction or disturbance. The sporadic outbreaks, due to squalid ignorance and prejudice or fomented by irresponsible agitators or stirred up by enemy agents, in no wise and to no extent gain-say that the plan of selective conscription is proving itself thoroughly.

Adjutant-General Smith compliments Fort Wayne with more than hint that the fighting men up this way are not fit to become officers and those cursed by origin hereabouts can overcome the handicap only by making an end of these diggings and wooing better fate and fortune in Indianapolis. That would be fine if everybody could, but not everybody can and quite a few wouldn't if they could. These aspersions of the quality and caliber of Fort Wayne's young men who are willing and ready to give the nation their all will be good things to record and refer to now and then.

One statesman whose fledgling career in Washington has just begun complains that under legislation enacted or pending for enactment the president of the United States will have more power than any king. Here's hoping. With the stupidities and slacking in the congress of the United States with which he has to deal to get things done for the war, faith he needs all the power of Grand Kahn of Tartary to enable him to see the nation through.

The Butte lynchers started in the finest way imaginable to make the I. W. W. menace a case of civil war—not to speak of choosing murder as the means of it.

QUESTION.

I suppose we come home to the woman at last—The woman who means most to us—And we heap at her feet the ashes of our past, Our turmoils, and trials, and fuss; And we say to this woman our hearts hold most dear.

"We are weary with fury and fight—We have held back the foe now this many a year. But we've come home to you in the night!"

Oh, what will you say, you woman of dreams, When we fall at your feet blind and dumb? When the best we could do was but failure, it seems—

When our cause has been lost, and we come—When all that was best we gave for your sake, But the best was a breath in the sky? Will you frown in cold scorn, or weep with heart-break?

Or be proud that we know how to die?

Now, what will you say, you woman of love, To the men who have held your face fair—Who have prayed to your soul as a spirit above, Who are spent with the pangs of despair? Will you all us with courage and faith manifold, And love us as we have loved you? Or, will you step back, now we're shaken and old? The question is, "What will you do?"

THE SECRET OF YOUTH.

(Edgar J. Goodspeed, in the Atlantic.) After all, the plain truth is that adventure consists less in the experiences one actually has than in the indefatigable expectancy with which one awaits them. Indeed, I sometimes fear that people must be divided into those who have adventures and those who appreciate them. And between the two the affinity for adventure is greater treasure than the experiencing of it. If we are possessed of the affinity, adventure itself is, at most, just round the corner from us. This opens the life of adventure to all who crave it. What possibilities lie in merely crossing a street, for example! Some one remarked the other day as he dodged across among the motor-cars, "Why not take a chance now and then and lead a real life for a few minutes?" I therefore recommend the life of adventure. It conceives each day as a fresh enterprise, full of delightful possibilities and promise, and so preserves the wine of life from growing flat. Here is the secret of youth.

A VISION OF THE FUTURE

Special Bureau in Washington to Answer Questions of Men Who Want Exemption from Army

BY GILSON GARDNER.

A parade of interrogation points terminates at the office of Major Gullion, down in the old land office building. The major has been made official interpreter of the draft law—so far as the public is concerned. He is the man in Washington from whom an inquirer can get yes, or no, answers "right off the bat."

For instance, enters the private secretary of United States Senator Smoot, Mormon and one of the Twelve Apostles.

"Is a Mormon missionary engaged in carrying the gospel of Mormonism away from his native town, subject to the draft law? Is he a minister of the gospel within the meaning of the law? Must he claim exemption where he is or where his home used to be?"

Another Mormon question: "The secretary of Senator Smoot is drafted. Is he a government employee and will he be entitled to exemption as such?" Answer: "The only way in which he can be excused is for Senator Smoot to make affidavit that no one else can fill his place."

The next inquirer is a messenger in the war department, and the answer to the messenger is the same. If Secretary Baker will approve an affidavit, saying no one else can be as good a messenger, then this messenger will be excused.

Enter John Smith demanding to know: "My wife worked before we were married, she is not working now and is dependent on me for support. Can I claim exemption on this ground, or must I consider the fact that my wife can go to work again and earn her living?"

A man from Porto Rico says: "I have a dependent wife and child; but how am I to get an affidavit from a neighbor when my neighbor lives in Porto Rico and it will take weeks to get mails back and forth?"

Answer: "Get your local board to extend the time for an appeal from their decision."

Enter a man with a smile: "The local board exempts me on the ground that I must support my wife and child. Am I now free to make my plans for the next year?"

Answer: "No, every case where the board excuses a man because of dependent relatives is appealed by the government to the district board. These appeals may be merely formal and never prosecuted, or they may be prosecuted."

The smile fades. Enter a letter carrier: "I suppose there is no doubt that I get off on account of being in the government service, in a necessary branch of the service?"

"Not at all," says Major Gullion, "if you get off it will be on the basis of an affidavit approved not only by your immediate superior officer and by the head of the government department, the postmaster general in this case, or some body designated by him to make such approval. The assumption is that you want to go and fight for your country, and that some one else can be found to carry your bag or sort your grist."

That is the way it goes all day long. The major is not really supposed to interpret the law at all, he is just designated to furnish casual information to governors, 439 local boards and 629 federal boards, and, incidentally to take care of the newspaper men who may want to know things. Gullion has already earned a promotion from captain to major, and if he survives he will be a general in a few weeks.

FIRST OF THE FLEET TO BEAT THE U-BOAT READY IN NOVEMBER

BY MILTON BRONNER.

The first ship in that famous bridge of ships which the United States is to build across the Atlantic to defeat the German U-boat campaign will be completed in November of this year.

A few more will be completed in December of this year and January and February of 1918. The great bulk of those contracted for will come in the spring and summer of 1918.

So it turns out that while Major General Goethals and William Denman were having their controversy, which resulted in their both getting out, work was nevertheless actually being done on the shipbuilding program.

Here are the facts as they stand today:

Contracts for 353 ships of all kinds have actually been signed, sealed and delivered and work on many of these is being pushed.

Contracts for 115 more ships of all kinds are in complete shape, save for the final signatures, which will come very shortly.

And here are the kinds of ships provided for in these contracts: Seventy-seven are steel ships whose tonnage ranges from 5,000 to 9,400.

Forty-eight are composite wood and steel ships, whose tonnage averages 3,500.

The balance are wooden ships whose tonnage is 3,000. One hundred and ten ships of all kinds have been contracted for on the Pacific coast.

One hundred and sixty-six ships have been contracted for in the south. The lumber men of the south were one cause for a slowing up in shipbuilding. They were under pledge to furnish lumber at an average price of $25 per thousand feet. Of the first 100 ships, lumber has been provided for only 63.

The result is the other day Chairman E. N. Hurley, of the shipping board, and Read Admiral Capps, general manager of the emergency fleet corporation, had a meeting with lumber representatives.

In polite language they told the lumbermen where they got off. Nothing so rude as "commandeering" was spoken, but the lumbermen saw the point and the lumber will be forthcoming—1,500,000 feet for wooden ships.

The meeting was interesting for another reason. Admiral Capps, who has refused to talk for publication, made his first speech and emphasized two points:

First—That he and Chairman Hurley were not going to scrap about the respective merits of wooden and steel ships, but were going to try to build as many of both as possible.

Second—That he and Hurley both considered themselves as mere units in the great scheme to defeat the U-boat, and would spend their time working and not quarreling.

IN THE WAKE OF FREEDOM.

(New York Sun.)

Start a people on the path of democracy and it is hard to say what it won't do. There is China, where once a race groaning under the yoke of the Tartar bought only one American cigarette a year per head of population. Now they buy ten times as many, or about 4,000,000,000. The old opium pipe hangs over the fireplace, perhaps gilded and with ribbons tied about it. Maybe in the old poppy fields of India the modern farmer is trying to raise Burley weed. Young Ah Sin smokes the kind it would be useless for him to ask dad about, for dad toyed with the pill and the lamp; and the kind that gives you the happy feeling, and particularly the kind of which not twenty may be had for a nickel. Riches and honor are what men desire, said Confucius, and a pack of cigarettes.

There is Russia, where within a week a yoke more galling than that of autocracy has been thrown off, the bank clerks of Petrograd having risen on the wings of their stools and hurled their coats at the nearest nail. "Be free like Americans; take off your coats!" cried Kerensky of these scribes, and not only all the bank clerks but all the other clerks in the Russian capital have taken the great step. Imagine the happiness of the office worker, hitherto in chains of wool, as he swings his pen to write out a receipt for taxes paid by N. Romannoff to the republic. We are informed that Russian suspenders are violent in color. This points out another possible stroke of freedom. Suspenders, of all forms of subjugation, are the vilest. It is hard to understand how the Russian people, even under the Terrible have stood for them. Americans make belts, sleeve protectors, and fancy striped shirts. May we not sell a couple of hundred millions of each to the new democrats? Let the American manufacturer offer something novel in belts, such as genuine Russia leather, found only on the steppes of South America.

FIFTY-FIFTY ON TOBACCO.

(Chicago Tribune.)

We should like to stimulate the fifty-fifty idea in smoking. If a man is smoking up to his financial allotment for tobacco it would not be an extraordinary sacrifice if he cut down to half for himself and gave the other half to a soldier who may not get anything to smoke unless it comes from voluntary contribution from home. The soldier needs tobacco. He is where nerves need a solace and a man who has the habit and cannot get the tobacco may go through unnecessary discomforts in places where there are necessary discomforts enough. Smokers who do not have to count out their smoking money can relieve the situation without knowing that they have done anything. The fellow over in France will know it. Go fifty-fifty and The Tribune will send the other half on to France.

"SHOCK UNITS" IN WAR.

(Grand Rapids Press.)

The use of "shock" units by the German armies is not in itself an evidence of weakened manpower because the English armies in France are doing the same thing. It is the German method of organization that indicates a lower standard of fighting strength in the Kaiser's armies.

The "shock" units are bodies of picked men employed to do a particularly difficult and hazardous piece of fighting. The English plan is to have one or more of these units with each battalion or regiment. The best men of each company are picked for a place in it. The method of selection might be compared to that used in organizing a college football team where men from all classes and departments compete.

The German plan, presumably because of inferior material in many sections of the line, is to move the "shock" units from one place to another as they are needed. Thus a Bavarian regiment might be forced to undergo the humiliation of having a Prussian "shock" unit take a section of trench and then turn it over to the Bavarians to hold.

Pride and competition are important factors, even in the grim business of war. A regiment that has the proper morale wants to take care of its own little fighting front without outside interference.

The English have found that it is much easier to counter-attack and regain trenches that have been captured by "shock" units and held by other troops than it is to retake ground won by the opposing regiment itself.

TWO DELEGATES GO TO K. OF C. CONVENTION

Annual Meeting at Chicago to Be Attended by Local Knights.

Two delegates from Fort Wayne, Stephen Callahan, local grand knight, and Maurice Niezer, general chairman of the war camp fund campaign in Allen county, will attend the annual convention of the Knights of Columbus, which opens in Chicago Tuesday morning. Delegates from every state in the union will be present for the convention.

The foremost subject at the convention will be the raising of the million dollar fund for the benefit of Catholic soldiers in the training camps. This campaign was held several weeks ago and met with the greatest possible success. Definite figures on the results of the campaign will be announced during the course of the meeting.

The war committee of the K. of C. has already awarded contracts for $100,000 worth of buildings for recreational purposes and for chaplains' quarters, and additional contracts for fixings will soon be awarded.

Headquarters for the Knights in Chicago will be at the Hotel Lasalle. Day sessions are to be held on the roof garden and evening sessions in the red room.

Dollar Day Thursday.

COMPANY K OF AUBURN IS READY TO LEAVE

Militia is Mobilized at Armory and Will Be Called Within Few Days.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Auburn, Ind., Aug. 6.—Company K, of Auburn and vicinity, has been called. Over 100 men, including three officers, assembled at the armory and prepared to call that home, at least until they leave for Hattiesburg. However, the officers indicated Sunday that the men might be permitted to return to their homes to spend the night because of the lack of facilities to take care of them at the armory. The calling out of the company caused a great deal of interest to be manifested in the latest action of the government and the army was crowded most of the day by friends and relatives of the soldiers watching the preparations to make this home for two weeks, go on.

The men will be fed there and drilling will occupy most of the time. Captain Stump was still undecided just what course would be taken, but in his opinion the men would be drilled about four hours a day. Five more recruits have been added. They are Lloyd Ruhl, Auburn; Harold D. T. Dean, Joseph Wilondek, of Garrett; Robert S. Wiley, Cromwell; Chester E. Harner, Auburn. Three men, Fred Bearns, Clarence Getts and Ralph Rugman, are expecting to get their discharge.

men and three officers, making Company K about fifty men strong.

Auburn Short Notes. More than twenty women of Auburn worked in the heat Saturday preparing comfort kits for the Red Cross work. These kits will go to the Auburn soldiers.

Interest is being manifested here in the big canning demonstration to be held at the offices of the gas company Monday and Tuesday and Mayor McClellan has issued an appeal to every house wife to attend this display and class, at which the most improved and latest methods in canning and preserving will be done. Two demonstrators from Purdue university will give the demonstration and it will be similar to that done by Miss Nancy Barr in the basement of the Methodist church some time ago.

Auburn is to have a big revival meeting soon. Evangelist Charles H. Harrison, of Indianapolis, has been secured and will come to Auburn about August 15 to start a three weeks' campaign. The revival will be under the direction of the Nazarene mission and the tent will be located on the lot just west of the postcard factory. He will be assisted in Auburn by the "Hoosier Trio," Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Kerst and Miss Mable Thorpe.

The store outdid the grim reaper in Auburn during the past month according to a report just handed out by Dr. W. W. Swarts, secretary of the city board of health. During the hottest month of the year there were six more births than deaths. Three boys and five girls came to that city. The deaths were divided even, there being one male and one female.

The first men to appear before the exemption board in Auburn, appeared bright and early Monday morning to be examined. The local board called fifty-six men for the first, one-third of the total of 176. On Tuesday and Wednesday fifty-nine men will be summoned. All of the notices have been mailed. The first man appeared at the court house door about 6:30 in the morning, evidently anxious to have it over with and to make sure that he answered his letter from Uncle Sam with promptitude. All the notices were mailed.

The Corona girls met with Miss Alma Martin, one mile north of Auburn, Monday evening. The trip was made in automobiles.

Heber DePew, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Carrie DePew, of South Main street for the past ten days, left Saturday for Durham, N. H., to assume his work as instructor in the agricultural college there.

Mrs. Mary Stroh was the guest until Monday of her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Lautzenhiser.

The Misses Ruby and Helen Kessler spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kessler of Rome City.

That proved to be the announcement of the engagement of Miss Cramer to David L. Councillor. The guests proceeded to shower Miss Cramer with their congratulations and good wishes. Miss Cramer is an assistant in the Adams Express company's offices. Mr. Councillor is shipping clerk in the Grand Leader store.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Enid Johnson, daughter of Mr. Alexander Johnson, formerly of this city, to wed Dr. Edward Berry, of New York city. There's only one lace now and that's filet.

Lace these days means only one kind of lace, and that's filet. It is the kind with the square mesh like a modified Page fence. It's all on the square, anyway, and has floral designs spreading over it, like vines on a trellis.

The real, honest-to-goodness filet is of course the handmade kind, to acquire whose square meshed lengths enmeshes you in debt to great lengths.

Dainty edging of the handmade filet finishes collars and cuffs of the most exquisite lingerie waists as well as the lingerie frocks of Georgette, organdie or handkerchief linen and elaborate insets and insertion, narrow or wide, garnish them to their fill with filet.

Boudoir caps of the coarser meshed imitation filet are most attractive, and one made from a yard length of very wide all over filet edging is simple and seductive. The lace is seamed together and gathered at the apex. It has a crush of wide satin ribbon holding it in closely around the headpiece. The ribbon is set on about two inches above the lace edge, which is left to flop softly around the face. The cap of cross-bar mesh is guaranteed to screen effectively a multitude of hair curlers.

Cuff and collar sets of real or imitation filet have all the fairest feminines around the throat and wrists. Indeed, a collar of any other lace save filet is spurned with great vehemence.

Handkerchiefs of the mode and the moment are bordered with the finest and narrowest filet edge and veils though naturally not of the linen thread, ape the filet lace in motive and mesh.

Though on the surface of things one would imagine all the filet was in full view, judging from its prevalence there is also a great abundance under cover or at least partially so. It is most popular for lingerie garnishings and edges and trims wash satin, muslin, crepe de chine or Georgette chemises, nighties, petticoats and under-vests in impartial perfection.

That essential garment known mysteriously in Paris as a "cache corset" and equally mysteriously in London as a "camisole," we designate more sordidly and frankly as a corset cover or an underbodice and by any name know it to be most lovely when made of allover filet lace and strung with shell pink satin ribbon.

Filet has even invaded the hearth and home as well as personal apparel appointments, not only is it omnipresent richly encrusting table linen, lunch cloths, dinner cloths, luncheon sets and napkins, but it has the guest towels, the face towels and even the bath towels in its meshes.

Filet crochet done in insertion and edging is used for towel trimming and crochet filet squares showing an initial or a monogram are set in with stunning results. All the feminine hands not busily wielding knitting needles of amber or bone on socks and sweaters for sailors and soldiers are busily chattering bone or steel crochet hooks through the mazes of filet mesh for bathroom embellishment.

Bedsprings of the filet lace squares in conjunction with embroidered ones have always been the last word in bedspread perfection, as have curtain and dresser toilet table scarfs and lingerie pillow tops.

AT THE PALACE

MUSICAL LAUGH.

Jimmie Hodges in "Pretty Baby" With Jean Tynes at Palace, August 12.

"Pretty Baby," the sensational musical comedy, with Jimmie Hodges and Jean Tynes in the leading roles, which comes to the Palace theater on Sunday, August 12, is probably the most elaborate from a scenic standpoint, of any production to play here this season.

There are five complete and elaborate scenes and settings; twenty odd song numbers; ten big dancing numbers and many electrical novelties.

The scene in the last act, atop a skyscraper, overlooking the "New York Roof Garden," with Broadway and its million of lights in the immediate background, is a stage picture that one will remember for many a long day.

The young lady in the bathing suit has invented post-TIVE-ly the best way we've yet seen of keeping cool this hot August. By closely observing the picture we see there's a full-sized ship in the iceberg's doughnut-hole, looking about as big as the lady's shoe; which leads us to believe that at the photographer's slipper something over. However, we don't doubt the lady wishes she had an iceberg as big as Pike's Peak to recline on.—Ice photos copyrighted by Holloway studios.

HOW TO USE POTATOES IN MAKING OF BREAD

The pressure of war conditions has brought to light the value of potatoes in bread making, both in England and America. As an economy in England potato flour was mixed with wheat and a peculiarly delicious bread resulted.

In this country potato flour is not available to the average housewife, and the United States department of agriculture has therefore devised recipes for the making of bread with simple, plain boiled potatoes mixed with the wheat flour.

This bread is said to be not only a complete success from the economy standpoint, where potatoes are cheap and plentiful, but to supply an attractive novelty in the household menu, and a welcome variation from the usual bread monotony. It has a rich brown crust, is tender and elastic, and the flavor is preferred by many to the bread made wholly of wheat. It contains more moisture than ordinary bread, and therefore has longer keeping qualities.

For the making of potato bread, at the present time, it is advisable to use the early perishable potatoes, since the later varieties are capable of storage until spring. "Culls" also may be so used.

STRAIGHT DOUGH METHOD.

To Make Four One-Pound Loaves.

- 3 pounds boiled and peeled potatoes.
- 3 pounds bread flour
- 1 1/2 level tablespoons salt
- 2 level tablespoons sugar
- 2 cakes compressed yeast
- 4 tablespoons water.

Wash thoroughly and boil in their skins about 12 potatoes of medium size. Cook them until they are very tender. Drain, peel and mash them while hot, being careful to leave no lumps. Allow the mashed potato to cool to 88 degrees F. or until lukewarm. To 3 pounds (5 solidly packed 1/2 pint cups) of the mashed potato, add the yeast, which has been rubbed smooth in a cup with 3 tablespoons of lukewarm water. To get all the yeast, rinse the cup with the remaining tablespoonful of water and add this also to the potato. Next add the salt, the sugar and about 4 ounces of the flour (1 scant half-pint of sifted flour). Mix thoroughly with the hand, but do not add any more water at this stage.

Cover the mixing bowl to avoid the formation of a crust on top and place out of the way of drafts to rise, where the temperature can not fall below 80 degrees F., or be much higher than 88 degrees F. Where the housewife has no thermometer she should see that the dough in all the rings is kept moderately warm, but not up to blood heat. Any water used in mixing the dough should be moderately warm, but by no means hot. This sponge, if kept at the proper temperature, should, after two hours, become quite light.

To this well-risen sponge, which now will be found to be quite soft, add the remainder of the flour, kneading thoroughly until a smooth and elastic dough has been formed. The dough must be very stiff, since the boiled potato contains a large amount of water which causes the dough to soften as it rises. Do not add water to the dough unless it is absolutely necessary to work in the flour. Set the dough back to rise again—temperature at about 86 degrees F.—until it has trebled in volume, which will require another hour or two. Then divide the dough into four approximately equal parts, reserving a tiny lump weighing 2 or 3 ounces for an "indicator." Shape the sample into a ball and press it into the bottom of

POTATO BREAD ROLLS.

To Make One Dozen Small Rolls.

- 8 ounces of boiled and peeled potatoes.
- 8 ounces of sifted flour.
- 1-3 cake of compressed yeast.
- 1/4 level teaspoonful of salt.
- 2 tablespoons of lukewarm water.
- 2 tablespoons of sugar.
- 2 tablespoons of butter.

*Two tablespoons of powdered milk, added to the dough, will greatly improve the quality of the rolls. Although milk itself or cream may be used, it must be borne in mind that they will increase the liquid content. Boil, peel and mash the potatoes as directed for bread-making. Add, in order, to this the salt, the powdered milk (if used), the yeast rubbed smooth and mixed with the water, and lastly two tablespoons of flour. Let this mixture stand at a temperature of about 86 degrees Fahrenheit until the dough begins to collapse. Add to this sponge the butter, the sugar, and the remainder of the flour and, if necessary, enough more flour to make a very stiff dough. Knead thoroughly until a smooth dough which is no longer sticky has been formed. Set back to rise again, and when the dough has trebled in volume, knead lightly, form into small balls and place, not too close together, in greased pans. Allow to rise until double in volume, as shown by the "indicator," and bake twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven, at about 400 degrees Fahrenheit. DON'T MISS ANY STEP.

Summer Complaint.
During the hot weather of the summer months some member of almost every family is likely to be troubled with an unusual looseness of the bowels, and it is of the greatest importance that this be treated promptly, which can only be done when the medicine is kept at hand. Mrs. F. F. Scott, Scottsville, N. Y., states, "I first used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy as much as five years ago. At that time I had a severe attack of summer complaint and was suffering intense pain. One dose relieved me. Other members of my family have since used it with like results."—Advertisement.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY SEVERE STORM

Crops Suffer and Buildings,
Trees and Wires Damaged
Sunday Afternoon.

A rain and electrical storm, accompanied by a gale which attained a velocity of forty-eight miles an hour, did much damage in Fort Wayne and portions of Allen county Sunday afternoon.

Corn and oats were rolled flat to the ground and much of it was broken off, patriotic gardeners of the city saw their war crops ruined, shade trees were blown down and limbs were broken off, buildings were damaged and telephone and telegraph service was greatly damaged.

As a prelude to the more severe one, a storm bringing with it some rain and a slight wind struck the city at 3:45 o'clock. The more severe storm arrived about 5 o'clock.

Sections in the country between Fort Wayne and Hometown suffered a great loss in crops.

A large plate glass window in the Kresge Five and Ten cent store was broken when the awning was blown through it. The awning at the Steele-Myers store, on West Berry street, crashed through two of the large windows. Three hats in the display window were caught by the wind. One of them was recovered, badly damaged, while the other two were hardly recognizable.

A large tree on South Wayne avenue, near the

FAREWELL TO SECOND UNIT

Fort Wayne's Heart Throbs
As It Sends More Youths to Fight for Liberty.

TWENTY THOUSAND SEE BATTERY LEAVE

Judge S. M. Hench Stirs His Audience With Thrilling Address.

Made happy by the fact that it had youths to give to fight for liberty yet saddened by the ungodly feeling which accompanies departures, Fort Wayne's heart throbs as it bade farewell to Battery B, the second contingent to leave the city, Sunday morning.

Amid the cheers of 20,000 voices and the hundreds of calls of "goodspeed," and the silenced sobs of compassionate mothers and saddened sweethearts, the special train which took the boys to Fort Benning, Ga., steamed from the Lake Erie and Western railway station at 11:15 o'clock.

Patriotic Fort Wayne forewent its Christian duty Sunday morning to participate in the rousing farewell demonstration. Following the addresses of W. H. Scheinmann and Judge Samuel M. Hench at the Anthony hotel a parade was given as an escort to the battery.

Two bands and four drum corps provided the music for the occasion and every patriotic organization in the city turned out and took part. The veterans of the civil war and the Spanish-American war, Company E, Company B and Boy Scouts were prominent.

Calhoun and Columbia streets where the parade turned west, the battery broke ranks and "double timed" it to the Lake Erie & Western freight depot where the passenger coaches awaited them. The boys boarded the cars here and then the train pulled into the station where good-byes were said through the car windows. Major Sol J. Carter, who was here to assist in getting the battery away, stated that he hated to do this, but that he found it necessary as the crowd was so large that it would have been a great hindrance in loading the men. He said that had they attempted to board the cars at the station that they would have been an hour late in getting started.

At the Anthony.
Battery B, marched to the Anthony hotel at 9:15 o'clock where they were arranged in double company front. W. H. Scheinmann, president of the Fort Wayne council for patriotic service, gave a brief preliminary address and introduced Judge S. M. Hench as the speaker.

Judge Hench, who is a veteran of the civil war and state commander of the G. A. R., stirred his audience with the fervid patriotism in his remarks and urged the boys who were about to depart to follow the flag wherever it went and told of the great patriotic duty which they would soon be called upon to perform.

In part the speaker said:
"And now you are called to fight for the greatest flag on earth. Some where in France, perhaps in Russia or Turkey, you will carry its gleaming folds that all mankind may know of the joy of freedom and civil and religious liberty. That old flag is our hope and our pride. It will go with you even as our hopes and our prayers will go with you as you go forth to battle. We know what it is to speak of the baptism of fire. You will defend our colors equally as well, for we know that Old Glory was never lowered in defense of liberty and your cause for a world freedom is truly a holy one."

"I would have you recall, too, my friends, and these good mothers who now behold their departing soldier sons through a mist of tears, that the mothers of France, that France which is bleeding in awful storm of war, sent their sons to America to aid our struggles in the Revolution. Now that freedom which they helped our forefathers gain and the blessings of liberty and peace it is destined for you to take back to France. Before the Declaration of Independence was signed, the French nation had sent us a million dollars and before it was consummated at the end of the seven years' struggle American and sons of France were fighting side by side for American freedom."

"To you members of Battery B, I would say in conclusion, we know that our loved country and its flag are and

SIGNAL CORPS WORKING HARD

Federal Inspection Was Held Saturday Evening by Lieut. Bush.

NOW IN SERVICE OF UNITED STATES

Kenneth S. Crighton is Made First Class Sergeant—Other Promotions.

The inspection of Company B, Indiana Signal corps, was held Saturday evening at Concordia college by Lieutenant Bush of the United States Signal reserve, and results were more than pleasing to the inspecting officer and to the officers of the company. This being a federal inspection, the report was sent into the central department at Chicago by wire.

Following an inspection of drill maneuvers, visual signaling and telegraphy, the company was complimented by Lieutenant Bush, not only on the showing made, but also on the branch of service which the men had selected. The lieutenant stated that this branch of the service was one of the highest, one that offers an unlimited opportunity to every man that gives his best efforts in its behalf, and try hard to make the work a great success. With Lieutenant Bush on the inspection trip was Captain Drennan of the Tenth U. S. Infantry, who was present for the purpose of making an efficiency report.

Sunday morning, the trumpeter, Clarence Fiegl, sounded the first call at 6:20 o'clock which brought the Signal corps, Company B, into federal service. They were mobilized as a unit of the Indiana national guard, but automatically entered federal service according to orders from the war department.

The work of drilling, practicing signal work, and attending school was carried on throughout the day, and for mess the company marched to the new Utility building where they are being catered to by the Summit City restaurant. This schedule will be maintained every day until orders to proceed are received.

By an order read prior to the inspection Saturday evening, Kenneth S. Crighton was made a first-class sergeant and first sergeant of the company. Other promotions were also made, although a number of vacancies still exist in the "non-com" grades.

Will Meet Tonight.
Those interested in Company E and Company B, particularly the mothers and sisters of the infantry and signal corps members, are asked to meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the assembly room at the court house to plan for a benefit in aid of the soldiers.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN ANSWERS SUMMONS

Jesse Crouse, age 79 years, a retired farmer and a veteran of the civil war, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Oser, rural route 7, Monday morning at 3 o'clock. Death followed an illness of six months.

Born in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, June 14, 1838, Mr. Crouse came to Allen county when 8 years of age. He resided on a farm on the Abbot Center road until twelve years ago, when he retired from active farming and took up his home with a son, George Crouse, 1014 Third street. He was a veteran of the civil war, serving in Company G, 152nd regiment of Indiana volunteer infantry. He was a member of Lawton, Wayne post. For the past year he had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Oser. Surviving relatives besides the daughter, are three other children, George H. Crouse and Mrs. Michael Oser, of this city, and B. F. Crouse, of Georgia. The wife died July 24, 1916. Fifteen grandchildren and five great grandchildren also survive.

SOCIALIST WOMEN TO SPEAK.

Under the auspices of the socialist party of this city Althea Hart, one of the well-known women orators of that propaganda, will speak in the assembly room of the court house Tuesday evening, August 7, at 8 o'clock. Miss Hart will talk especially to women because of the fact that Indiana women this fall will for the first time cast ballots. Lillian Martin, another lady speaker of the socialist propaganda, will speak in Welsner park the evening of August 17.

NO HOPE FOR ENTOMBED MEN.

Clay, Ky., Aug. 6.—Rescuers, having partially cleared the works of gas were prepared again to descend into mine number 7 of the West Kentucky Coal company here today in an effort to reach fifteen, possibly twenty, men believed to be negroes, who were entombed Saturday with more than one hundred other miners after an explosion attributed to gas. Authorities at the mine assert they have no hope any of them are alive. The known dead are thirty-one.

FIVE DIE IN WRECK.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 6.—Three persons were killed outright and two died from injuries lately as a result of the collision of two passenger trains on the Milwaukee, St. Paul railroad yards last midnight. Frank Miles, 44-year-old, N. Y., dressed in a soldier's uniform, was among the victims.

MAYOR IS BESIEGED BY ANXIOUS MOTHERS

How to Keep Sons Out of Conflict is Main Topic.

Anxious mothers are literally besieging Mayor Hoesy in efforts to induce him to use his influence for keeping young men out of war. The mayor is also being called upon by conscript subjects who want to know from him the possible grounds for exemption. The mayor can only read the draft law and interpret the meanings of its several sections for the quaking men and nerve-torn mothers. He will make no effort to appeal in behalf of any citizen before the exemption boards, he frankly states.

One distracted mother, who claims that her son is her only source of support, spent much time in the mayor's office Monday morning, in an endeavor to secure the mayor's aid in having her boy released from Battery B. The woman said her son, who is just eighteen, enlisted in the battery without her knowledge. He told her that he felt it his duty to aid United States in the conflict, and when she objected he signed up for service without her knowledge, the woman said. She did not know that he was to leave with the battery until Sunday morning, she tearfully explained.

Mayor Hoesy has directed the mother to write officers at Indianapolis, where Battery B is now encamped, and to state her condition before the military officials. He thinks there is a chance of the lad being released if it is clearly shown that his mother will suffer from poverty in his absence.

Young men, many of them stalwart and apparently fit subjects for the national host, have begged audience with the mayor during the past two days to talk about matters of army exemption. In several cases the mayor has been asked to appear before the draft boards in behalf of the conscription subjects. Mayor Hoesy refuses to take a part in any effort to diminish the fighting strength of democracy.

"If the boys have a valid excuse for staying at home they will be exempted without my aid," says the mayor. "I do not feel that any personal pressure should be brought to bear on any members of the draft commissions."

DRIVE GOES ON.

Building Effort of Present Year Continues to Bring Results.

The sustained building drive of 1917 continues to bring results. The figures for the present year have been augmented during the past week by two substantial construction notices.

Twenty-five thousand dollars were added to the list by the permit taken out by the Horton Manufacturing company, Saturday afternoon. The building to be placed at the foot of Fry street will take the place of the structure burned in the recent fire, which consumed three buildings of the plant. WIFE LEAVES NOTE WHEN SHE DEPARTS

James J. Burton Sues Edna for Divorce Because She Drove Him Away.

When wifey went away she left a note that she had run away and was never coming back. According to James J. Burton, who has sued Edna S. Burton for divorce, she came back after being gone six weeks.

They lived together again and then wifey got real mean and tormented him and called him names and threatened to strike him and as a conclusion drove him out of the house.

The plaintiff further states that his wife would absent herself from the house at other times and stay away for ten days to two weeks at a time and would not tell him where she had been. They were married January 3, 1916, and separated June 21, 1917.

NO WORD REGARDING ADHESIVE ANALYSIS

No word has been received from Indianapolis regarding the analysis of samples of court plaster, which were taken to the state chemist by Dr. James Dinnen and which may have caused the typhoid fever illness of William Fleming, 1041 West Berry street.

Mr. Fleming is recovering from his severe sickness and is now considered to be out of danger by Dr. Dinnen. The sick man is strong in his belief that it may have been the court plaster which gave him the typhoid fever germs.

FOREIGN SPY SUSPECT HELD

Arrest Made at Electric Works by Deputy Marshal Haggerty.

PRISONER MAKES AN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Refuses to Give Up Until Officer Draws His Revolver.

Suspected of being a spy, a young foreigner, giving the name of Eric Larson, was arrested Sunday night at the plant of the General Electric company by Deputy United States Marshal W. H. Haggerty, who found Larson apparently trying to take pictures of the works.

When questioned about his presence there and as to what he was doing Larson is alleged to have told the officer that "it was none of his business." Deputy Marshal Haggerty took Larson to the county jail where he was detained until Monday morning, when a hearing, started in police court, developed the fact that Larson had not registered. He was then given over to federal authorities, who gave him a preliminary hearing. An affidavit was filed against Larson by Sheriff George W. Gillo, charging him with attempting to evade the draft law.

Larson is about 29 years of age and is a Norwegian, although he speaks English fluently. He was unable to give a good account of himself to the federal authorities. He said that his residence was in this city but would not disclose where he came from, although it was learned that he had a brother, a prosperous farmer, in Illinois, whom the court has located. Larson is described as a person of good appearance and one whose ordinary actions would not attract suspicion.

Officer Draws Revolver.

When Marshal Haggerty attempted to make the arrest, Larson resisted and it was necessary for the officer to draw his revolver before he could take Larson in custody. Larson will be given a further hearing Friday afternoon before T. J. O'Keefe, United States commissioner of the federal district court. The affidavit against him charges an attempt to evade the draft law, but it is possible that a more serious one may be brought against him if it is shown to be justifiable by the evidence.

NEW YORK GETS U-BOAT SCARE; GATES CLOSED

New York, Aug. 6.—A report that a U-boat had been sighted near the trans-Atlantic lanes off this port caused the war department authorities to close the gate in the net protecting the harbor mouth there at 1 o'clock this morning. The gate was opened again at 6 a. m.

SAW A PERISCOPE.

Washington, Aug. 6.—A preliminary report from the master of a merchant ship, who thinks he sighted the periscope of a submarine off New York, has been received at the navy department. Investigation is being made.

BERLIN CLAIMS U-BOAT LOSSES ARE MODERATE

Berlin, Aug. 6.—(Via London.)—It is officially declared that contrary to rumors of overwhelming losses in submarines the monthly average is little more than the under-water boats lost during the period from February 1 to August, while the monthly increase in submarines constructed is many times larger.

LIVED AS MAN; DIES TO ESCAPE DRAFT EXPOSE

River Solves Mystery of Dr.
Ackerman, Toledo Woman Optician.

(Staff Special.)
Toledo, O., Aug. 6.—Married and divorced as a man, wearing man's attire, doing his work, adhering to man's customs and activities for the last whose body was found in the Maumee river here—the body of a woman.

Knowing she could not establish her age, having been born in Russia, Dr. Ackerman feared she would be called for selective service examination, and her secret would be discovered. That, neighbors say, combined with financial difficulties and ill health, led her to suicide.

Police say, also, Dr. Ackerman adopted man's attire to keep a child, believed to be hers, in New York, and dreaded the physical test because discovery of her sex would disqualify her from supporting the child.

Dr. Ackerman's "wife" never knew her "husband" was a woman until told by the police. The woman's closest friends, physicians who had examined "him" for signs of tuberculosis, members of the synagogue which he frequented, even girls to whom "he" is said to have made love—were astounded to hear that Dr. Ackerman had deceived them.

For twenty-four years since she came from Russia, the girl succeeded in growing up from "boyhood" to "manhood"—in marrying another girl, even—without creating suspicion!

Her real name no one knows. Even her divorced "wife," who is now Mrs. William Wise, does not know whence she came or who she really is.

"I don't know where 'he' came from. I don't know any relatives 'he' might have had. I married 'him' in New York. I don't know anyone in New York who might know 'him,'" she declared.

Neighbors knew Dr. Ackerman as a quiet, pale-faced "man" who would rather spend the evenings reading or sitting on the porch, than frequenting cafes. Dr. O. M. Main, friend of Ackerman, said he often walked to work with "him," but never suspected he was a woman.

Friends still find it difficult to explain the woman's apparent delight in making love to her own sex. They recited numerous occasions when she made love to other girls.

NINE ARE HURT WHEN
AUTO LOOPS THE LOOPCar Turns Completely Over
as It Strikes Avenue Curbing.

Nine occupants of a large touring car were all injured when the machine turned completely over upon striking the curbing in front of 2916 Maumee avenue, Sunday afternoon. The machine hit the curb stone at an acute angle and literally looped the loop, landing on its wheel again.

The injured are: Fred Snyder, 1434 Wabash avenue, shipping clerk of the National Mill Supply company, who suffered spinal injury, a gash in his head and a wrenched right shoulder; Fred Snyder, scalp wound; Edward Snyder, 16, body bruises; Joseph Snyder, 14, lacerations of the arms and legs; Caroline Snyder, 11, scratched and bruised; Adolph Snyder, 5, left knee injured; Margaret Snyder, 9, cuts and bruises on arm; Martha Snyder, 2, back hurt and head cut, and Homer Krick, 2120 Maumee avenue, side of head hurt.

Krick was driving the car. He was taking the Snyder family to call upon relatives in Jefferson township. His car was damaged at the corner of Maumee and Glasgow avenue when he collided with an ice truck which turned around at the corner. Both machines were traveling slowly and their drivers believed that neither of the motors were damaged. A radius rod was bent in the Krick car, however.

The damaged steering rod caused the machine to swerve wildly when Krick had attained a fair rate of speed farther out on Maumee avenue. The car shot towards the curbing. It hit the curb stone and turned over. None of the occupants of the machine was hurt from the machine, although they were violently shaken. The auto came to rest on its wheels, in an upright position. Members of the party were assisted into the home child must realize the greater opportunity and co-operate toward making it a success. It is a well-established fact that the greater co-operation between the school authorities and the parents of a community, the greater will be the accomplishments in that community.

Probably no better brief statement of the purposes of the junior high school has been made than a digest by Dr. Witherers from the annual report of Philip W. Cox, former superintendent of schools at Solway, N. Y.

"The educative process, if intelligent, is the setting up of experiences and obtaining correct responses from the pupils, such that they tend thereafter to react in similar situations in the way that has been found to be best for society and the individual. These experiences are set up by the school organization, the content and method of the curriculum and by the personality of the teacher.

Education that Fits Child.

"If, therefore, pupils differ in capability, in type of mental traits, in probable future vocations, in home and neighborhood environment and in responsiveness to the more or less artificial school situations, then it follows that the uniform school curriculum, discipline and regimen is not suited to all. The social, psychological and physiological characteristics of adolescence are so important that a special school organization is needed to care for them.

"Investigations of the elimination of 50 to 70 per cent of the sixth grade groups before they enter high school show that the greatest single cause for dropping out of school is that children and parents are not convinced that the school is worth while.

"The school must give to each individual child the kind and amount of instruction that best fits him, and he must be permitted to advance as rapidly as his development permits, and as slowly as it requires. Furthermore, the school must give to each child a broad and varied curriculum, and furnish social situations in which the pupils may co-operate for some worthy purpose.

"This is very different from the practice in the older educational regime which offers identical educational opportunities for all generally through the tenth grade. It is so different that there is needed a new school organization, with a new conception, with a new attitude, with a new teaching corps, with varied industrial and athletic equipment. And there is, above all else needed a principal who, besides the necessary executive qualifications, has infinite patience, an all-pervading faith in the potential worth-whileness of all boys and girls.

"For the junior high school is not fundamentally an organization, a building, an administrative scheme. It is an environment into which all adolescents, boys and girls may enter and work in earnest to solve a real problem. Its immediate purposes are to prevent needless elimination, to furnish real educational guidance, to carry on pre-vocational education, placement and follow-up work, to see that all pupils master certain minimal essentials, to furnish a social environment, in which will develop actual situations calling for actual responses from the pupils who will then truly learn to do by doing now. Instruction in how to study, definite periods of really supervised study, co-operative work in the shop, civics and science, the departmentalization of pupils and instruction are important devices for accomplishing these aims.

Methods in Cities Differ.

Methods of working out the general idea contained in the junior high school have varied in the different cities adopting the plan. This is necessitated because of the various interests and conditions in the various communities. Some cities have found that the rule of six years for the grade schools, two for the junior high school and four for the senior high school have been best, while a few have six for the grade, four for the junior and two for the senior high schools. However, the one most worked out and used is the one placed in operation in St. Louis, providing for six years in the grade schools, three in the junior and three in the senior high school.

Educators maintain that the proposed plan is best for both the slow student and for the pupil who works ahead of his class. They also believe that all pupils entering the junior high school, whether by promotion or transfer, should be permitted and encouraged to change from curriculum to curriculum when it becomes evident that the change is advisable.

THE LATE BEN BLEWETT

DR. J. W. WITHERS, Supt. of Schools

By T. H. ROGERS.
PURCHASE of the Manual Training-Smith Academy property in St. Louis for $300,000 inaugurates the junior high school movement in the Mississippi Valley with an impetus that presages a tremendous growth within a few years. For several years students of school conditions have been working on plans that will fix the curriculum of the modern school along the line of child development, rather than run counter to it.

The idea embodied in the establishment of the junior high school is to allow the pupil as he reaches that stage in life when he thinks of life preparation to form ideas as to what he shall do, and then allow him a greater opportunity to test his fitness for the trade, profession or occupation as well as it can be done in the school.

To do this the St. Louis school authorities will follow the lines that have been suggested by those who have strongly advocated a differentiation of school study along modern democratic lines. As a first step in line with that policy, the new school, which will be inaugurated with the opening of school in September, will provide for an intermediary school between the high school and the grammar grades. As constituted in the past, the grammar schools have maintained eight grades, requiring eight years, under normal conditions, for a pupil to finish and prepare for the high school.

The junior high school, so far as it can be applied through the establishment of only one school as a test of the system, contemplates taking two years—the seventh and eighth grades—from the public school and the freshman year, or ninth grade, from the high school, and constituting the junior high school.

Under this plan there will remain, in those districts affected by the plan, a six-year course in the grammar schools, three in the junior high school, and three in the high school. In the number of years required to finish the public school system from the kindergarten to the last year of the high school there will be no difference. The difference is in the system of treatment of students and the arrangement of the public school course along scientific and democratic lines.

Plans that have undertaken the plan, in every instance it has been found that the rearrangement has been conducive to greater attendance as well as a better preparation for the child's life work.

Educational work along the lines of the junior high school among the superintendents in St. Louis and in other cities had been carried on by Ben Blewett, St. Louis superintendent of instruction, prior to his recent death. Since that time the propaganda has been carried on by his successor, Dr. J. W. Witherers, with even more fervor, if that has been possible. The idea on which the junior high school theory is based is especially applicable to industrial centers, but it is by no means confined to those centers. But since all of the larger cities are industrial centers, the plans worked out have been in contemplation of industrial conditions. It means to build up a condition in consonance with the growth of the normal child, to supplement the desires of the child affecting his after life rather than to force him to accept a curriculum whether or not it appeals to him.

Dr. Witherers, taking the same view of the matter that has been taken by leading educators throughout America and Europe, believes that the public schools should provide an educational system that goes along with the child and does not run counter to him. It is not only conducive to greater interest in the school work, but it also, as shown from the records in other cities that have tried out the plan, increases the length of the time that a child will attend school.

With the adolescent period, from 12 to 14 years, the child's views change, and he begins thinking more of equipment for life work. Under the old system he has had no opportunity under which he or she might study with a view to specifically fitting himself so as to better qualify for some vocation. The new arrangement will enable the child to think exactly along the lines of preparation for life. It will enable him to find himself, and thereby better equip himself for work before he leaves the public school.

Tends to Eliminate Chasm.
Under the educational and labor laws of most states, a child must remain in school until he is 14 years of age before he can go out for work. In some it is 15. This is about the age when the vast majority of them in the past have completed the grade schools, and with that change from the lower to the high school there has been an unsettlement in the mind of the child. He is at the age that he might find work, and in thousands of instances he has been permitted by his parents, even where the parent did not need the support of the child, to go to work sooner than necessary. He also has gone to work earlier than would have been necessary if the course of study had been so arranged as to appeal to the child rather than to create the chasm between the two branches of the school system.

The junior high school plan is explained on the basis that if the child is interested in the intermediate work before the time arrives for him to change schools, he will not leave when he has completed the eighth grade, but will continue at least until the junior high school course is completed. That will give him one year more of work. But surveys made by various educational departments throughout the country have shown that the percentages of increase in attendance in the high schools, where the junior high school work has been inaugurated, has been phenomenal.

Almost without exception the child interested in work more to his liking, as a result of the junior high school work, remains in school to the completion of the ninth year work to a larger degree than he did prior to the installation of the new system. A materially larger percentage, also, interested in the work, and missing the great change from the common to the high school course, enters the senior high school and continues the line of work started in the junior high school.

In the latter school the boy or girl has an opportunity to find himself or herself. There is an opportunity for vocational research, and the child is able thus to experiment along lines that appeal to him similarly as those if he had to go to work. Then when he does leave school and go to work, he has broader fundamental knowledge of the work in which he engages, and is thus able to make more rapid progress. At the same time he has advanced in vocational knowledge, and also has acquired more of what the teachers call cultural knowledge.

St. Louis' venture is along the line of experimentation. It will not be inaugurated throughout the city, but in certain districts where congested high school buildings make it imperative that some relief be afforded. At the same time that the relief is afforded, through the purchase of grounds and school buildings which have been used for vocational work, it enabled Dr. Witherers and the Board of Education to try out the plan that, has been successful in Rochester, in Cleveland, Boston, Columbus, and possibly 100 other cities of the country.

While complete statistics have been prepared as to the growth of the plan throughout the United States, through surveys made by various states and cities, still the exact number of cities adopting the plan cannot be determined. This is due to the conditions surrounding its inauguration.

Some of the cities apply it in part, some try the experiment in connection with other school work, and without working out a definite plan of work, and also without fixing a harmonious arrangement so as to lessen the feeling in the pupil of the change from one branch of school to another. This latter work, among educators, is considered an important element because it removes from the mind of the child the suggestion of stop which he receives from the old plan of two branches. When this came at the time of his change to adolescence, it produced a greater desire in the boy and girl to leave off studies when they reached the end of the common or grade school.

The new plan, in the judgment of those who have studied the system, interests the child just before or just as he experiences his physical development and implants in his mind a greater illustration of the efficacy of education. In that way it is figured that not only will the average pupil in the lower branches remain in school for one or two years longer, but that the system will be the incentive for a larger percentage remaining until they have completed the entire high school course. It is intended that the vocational work in the junior high school shall be laid out so it will entice the pupil into extending his public school work.

Every taxpayer in every city in the country is interested in the new plan.

Every parent, whether or not a taxpayer, is likewise interested, because on its development depends the plan to change the course of vocational training. Some educators have maintained that the scheme of education in the country has been one of opposition to the child. They also maintain that the change to make the educational work develop with the physical development of the boy and girl will interest the pupil in the work, leave better results for the same time devoted to school, and, as great as either, will induce a larger number of them to remain in school a longer time than they otherwise would have done.

The average boy and girl, educators maintain, want to apply themselves in experiments. They do not want to get all their knowledge out of books. They feel that their personality could be broadened if they only had opportunity to get out and study what will be their living later on in life. It does not come to them in just that language, but that is the conclusion they reach, nevertheless, by providing the opportunity to "find themselves" while still in school, the proponents of the junior high school believe that the incentive to the boy and girl is provided.

Dr. Witherers Cites Advantages.

Advantages of the new plan have been set out by Dr. Witherers, in what he has termed arguments in favor of the system. These ideas are based on the work performed in other cities of the country that have adopted the junior school idea. He says:

"When first established, the common school took over from the district school its work intended originally for young men and women, but wholly unsuited for children. As a result, the school continually worked against, in place of with, nature. At a time when reason is developing, the children are put to task at memory work, such as language study. When memory is active, the children are put at reasoning work.

"The break between the grades and the high school occurs in the worst possible point in the course. This is a period of adolescence, vagaries and hallucinations. A fatal belief that the pupil has finished something in completing the eighth grade assures the maximum number of irreparable mistakes. If the pupil could be held in a familiar environment for a year longer, such mistakes would be greatly reduced.

"The junior high school exploits the various possible powers or aptitudes, leaving to the senior high school the function of especially preparing them for a definite pursuit or for definite continuation in higher institutions.

The Community Feeling.

"The junior high school develops a greater cohesion of feeling than now obtains. With our present plan, students dribble into the high school in small numbers and from many schools. They are widely lacking in anything approaching a community feeling or a feeling of group responsibility."

Not only every teacher and member of educational boards are interested in the proposed change, but every boy and girl of school age, and especially every parent, is interested, because it involves a change in the treatment of the pupil as well as increases the opportunity of the child to get hold of himself. The system will not accomplish the results of itself. It will afford the opportunity, and go a great way toward accomplishment. But the main thing is that the parent and the

Minister of posts and telegrams—M. Nikitine (social democrat).
State comptroller—F. A. Golovine (constitutional democrat).
Minister of agriculture—M. Tschernoff (socialist).
Assistant minister of war—M. Savinkoff.

Foreign Minister Terestchenko informs The Associated Press that M. Tschernoff, who again becomes minister of agriculture, has been fully re-installed, his accusers having withdrawn charges that he had relations with Germany.

FAITHLESS; MUST DIE.

London, Aug. 6.—Gen. Maevsky, commander of the guards corps which headed the Russian retreat on the southwest front, has been ordered shot, according to a dispatch to the Post from Petrograd. This sentence came after a court martial which was ordered by Gen. Korniloff, commander-in-chief, for non-compliance of his order to shoot deserters.

KERENSKY WILL SERVE.

Petrograd, Aug. 6.—Premier Kerensky has returned to Petrograd and withdrawn his resignation. He attended a ministerial meeting on Saturday evening and afterward conferred with various political leaders.

M. Kerensky has issued a manifesto in which he declares that he considers it impossible when the country is threatened with defeat without and disintegration within to refuse the heavy task again intrusted to him, which he regards as an express order from the country to construct a strong revolutionary government to carry out the principles already laid down.

"At the same time," said the manifesto, "I consider it inevitable to introduce changes in the order and distribution of government work without allowing myself to be influenced by the thought that these changes will increase my responsibility in the supreme direction of the affairs of state."

The all-night political conference at the winter palace, which was conducted Saturday evening by the passage of a resolution in which confidence in Premier Kerensky was expressed by each of the five parties represented and in which he was invited to form his own cabinet, was conducted in the strictest order, but with intense emotion. All the participants were obviously convinced that the decision which was to be reached meant Russia's regeneration or her ruin.

In conversation with the Associated Press correspondent, who was permitted to be present, the ministers declared the conference to be the most momentous event in the history of the empire since 1913, when, during the troublous times of the Polish war and internal anarchy, the election of the first Romanoff by a singular conference of notables at Moscow saved the country from dissolution.

Two of the boards telegraphed to Indianapolis Sunday evening for more blanks when it became evident that the supply would soon be exhausted. No reply was received and the second telegram was sent Monday morning.

District No. 1.

At District No. 1 the men who were waiting to be examined were entertained by Rev. Paul Miller, who played the piano. The men enjoyed the music greatly and all proclaimed that it helped materially in whiling away the dreary hours while waiting.

Major Ryan of the regular army recruiting station, was consulted several times regarding the passing or rejection of men whose ailments were not clearly defined in the book of instructions.

Keep On With Work.

All four boards announce that work of examining the young men will continue on Tuesday. It is stated that the boards will begin work of calling in men more as soon as those whom they have called have passed under the eyes of the examination physicians.

Find Perfect Specimen.

The examining doctors announce that they have found a great many beautiful and perfect specimen of men among those whom they have examined. One doctor stated that he examined a man Monday morning who was very near being a perfect man. There was but one little defect, he said. Otherwise he would have pronounced him a perfect type of man.

Winner Is First.

William W. Winner, 703 West Berry street, seems to be the first sure candidate for the national army from the second city district, where physical examinations were started Monday morning. Winner was number seven on the list of names held by exemption board members at the Elks' club headquarters. The young man announces that he will claim no exemption.

Edward Erwin, 1223 St. Mary's avenue, is the second man who is certain to go from that part of the city north of the Pennsylvania tracks and west of Calhoun street. He passed an excellent physical test and will ask no exemption.

Fred Loehr, 1307 Ewing street, is third to waive exemption claims after being examined physically.

Jay Havice, 323 West Jefferson street, the first named presented has enlisted in Battery B.

Only five men were rejected because of physical defects from the first twenty-six men called in the second district. One other subject was rejected temporarily and another ordered to report for re-examination on next Tuesday.

Sixteen men asked for exemption affidavits. Nearly all these asked to be excused because of wives being dependent upon them. In four cases the young men stated that they are supporting their mothers.

Two hundred and fifteen more notices will go out from the Elks' club office for the second district, on Tuesday. More notices will go out next week.

"We expect to send out 1,000 notices before we feel assured of obtaining our quota," said a member of the second district draft board, Monday afternoon.

Call in Major.

One of the young men examined Monday morning, in the second district, displayed an advanced case of pyorrhea, a disease of the gums. His teeth were on the verge of falling out, physicians found. They could not find in the exemption law a statement concerning pyorrhea.

Major Thomas Ryan, in charge of the Fort Wayne recruiting station, was called to the office to pass on the case. He said the subject should be exempted. Good teeth are necessary in army life, he explained.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S WAR NEWS

cope with the situation in each case, Paris announces.

The strong hand of Kerensky is again at the helm in Russia where the personnel of the organized cabinet has been agreed upon under his premiership. The constitutional democrats are represented in the list.

China apparently is on the verge of a declaration of war against Germany and Austria-Hungary. A cabinet meeting decision in favor of a war declaration has been approved by acting President Feng Kuo Chang, and the declaration Peking advises state, is expected to be issued this week.

Berlin's report of the Flinders fighting asserts that strong attacks were delivered by the British yesterday between the Ypres-Menin road and the Lys, all of which were repulsed. There is considerable more activity on the Austro-Italian front and today's official bulletin from Rome tells of a tension of the Italian lines. On the Julian front by means of a rapid thrust southeast of Bosomalo, the Italian lines were maintained.

Changes in the German imperial cabinet and the Prussian ministry were announced today. Special interest today was paid to the appointment of a new foreign secretary to succeed Dr. Alfred Zimmermann in the person of Dr. Richard von Kuehmann, former German ambassador to Turkey. The new minister is declared in press comment from Holland to have been always an opponent of ruthless submarine warfare and as favoring a policy of avoiding further alienation of Great Britain with a view to easing after the war conditions.

plan for increasing postal rates by a zone system was retained. The house provision reimposing Spanish war stamp taxes were substantially retained. The total estimated increase in federal revenues of $2,008,970,000 proposed under the amended bill was said today by Chairman Simmons and treasury experts to be conservative.

Many of those in charge of the revision of the bill believe it will in actual action yield many millions more.

War Profits Tax Defended.

"The house bill would impose a tax of 16 per cent on excess profits. Great Britain's war profits are now taxed 80 per cent. Canada's were increased from 25 to 75 per cent and the new Zealand rate is 45 per cent. The country's war profits are an excess of profits tax a war profits tax. The change of basis seems desirable not only because it is equitable but because its successful collection will be greatly facilitated. The committee reached the conclusion that a graduated tax beginning with 12 per cent and reaching 50 per cent at its highest would be far more equitable than a flat tax of 16 per cent."

In defending the proposed tax of ten per cent on undivided corporate incomes, the report said: "Neither existing law nor the house bill imposes a surtax on undistributed earnings of corporations."

Your committee believes the situation would be best met by imposing the surtax upon such portion of corporate retained surplus not retained for employment in the business and by imposing the additional tax of two per cent upon corporate incomes, while imposing on individual incomes only an additional tax equivalent to 1 per cent of the normal tax."

DEATH FOR RESISTERS

car toward Holdenville. He apparently was unaware of conditions that had resulted in a cordon of armed citizens being thrown around the town. He was killed when he did not heed or hear an order to stop.

It was reported that one of the wounded possemen, Jack Paige, had been carried off by the registers and a heavy re-enforcement of possemen started to his district. It developed that Paige had not been captured and it was expected that this posse which went to his aid would capture the band.

Hundreds Under Arrest.

More than two hundred members of the various bands, mostly of the poor tenant farmer class, with a number of negroes and a few Indians—had been placed under arrest today and it was announced from the base of operations at Sasakwa, Seminole county, that with the exception of two bands, one comparatively strong, it was believed the section had been cleared of organizations of the malcontents.

Among the registers captured are said to be several of the leaders, while at least three of the men held responsible for spreading the propaganda with the mythical promises that resulted in the uprising are believed to be still at large. It was indicated that their names are known and officials expressed belief that with their capture, the outbreak would be put down completely.

Three Men Killed.

Three men have been killed in the four days of guerilla warfare in which hundreds of heavily armed men have stalked each other through the rough and timbered country. Wallace Earl, an aged leader of the objectors, was killed Friday. Full blooded Indians, many of whom at first were reported to be among the hostile bands of government enemies, have rendered valuable assistance in hunting down the resisters. They have followed trails over the difficult country that would have been impossible for white possemen to have noticed.

How Osteopathic Hay Fever Cures— Defied the Hosts of Pollen.

Hay fever has been capitalizing to osteopathic treatment in a very satisfactory way for three or four years. In this period the attention of the profession has been focused as never before upon this and kindred afflictions, such as "rose cold," catarrh and other affections of the nasal and pharyngeal passages, and as a result knowledge and skill in controlling these ills have gone steadily forward. Facts interest everybody. Let us see what has been done by osteopathic ear, nose and throat specialists that physicians of other schools have not been able to duplicate. Everybody, of course, knows that there is no drug cure for hay fever. An osteopathic ear, nose and throat specialist opened a free clinic for the treatment of hay fever in Philadelphia, August 3, 1915, and continued it six weeks. In that time seventy-nine patients presented themselves for treatment. Fifty cases stuck to the treatment faithfully. Of these forty-six cases reported "attack arrested," four reported "fair improvement," while no benefit was reported for the twenty-nine remaining cases, quite a number of whom quit taking treatment and were lost track of. The spirit manifested by these patients—ordinarily so skeptical and despondent—was one of hopefulness and enthusiasm. Almost everyone seemed to be satisfied with his improvement. Some said they were cured after their second or third treatment, and that all their symptoms had disappeared. These, of course, were cautioned to continue until discharged, but, as stated, a number of them failed to do so. Various of these patients said it was the first summer in years that they could continue at their employment.

One woman after six treatments went into the country where there were large quantities of golden rod and rag weed. She reported she had not sneezed once. She said that in other years she would have almost sneezed her head off under such conditions. Another case had suffered from hay fever for thirty years and all that time had been a most annoying snorer. Not only was this gentleman delighted with his emancipation from sneezing but his whole family shared the benefit because they no longer had to "treat" his snoring. He reported that his snoring had stopped and his hay fever symptoms.

Other gratifying cases are worth comment: Case No. 18. A woman, aged 48, suffered from hay fever eleven years. Obtained complete relief. Sneezing stopped, eyes stopped itching, no mucous discharge from nose, continued her housework in comfort which she had not been able to do for years in hay fever season.

Case No. 27. Former, aged 36, suffered from hay fever twelve years, always followed by distressing asthma. Result of treatment: All hay fever symptoms disappeared and asthma was entirely relieved. Worked in fields of corn in tassel and in rag weed without bringing on an attack. Result of treatment: The first time in twelve years that he has been able to work around corn in bloom during hay fever season.

Case No. 36. A woman, aged 26, suffered from hay fever eight years. Said that all symptoms of the disease disappeared as a result of her treatment and that this was the first year she could sleep during an attack. She was gratified that her asthma, too, was entirely relieved.

Case No. 51. Man, aged 46, suffered from hay fever fifteen years. Result of treatment: Says he feels so much better he has forgotten what hay fever is like. Riding in his automobile in the dust and wind makes him feel good whereas it used to bring on an attack.

The incident of the woman who went out in the fields of Jersey golden rod to see whether or not it would bring on an attack gave the founder of this hay fever clinic the idea of making a good test of this treatment on a number of patients. He learned that eight or ten others of his patients had also passed through patches of golden rod and rag weed without bringing on an attack. He decided to make a thorough test with about thirty patients, all of whom had taken at least three or four treatments each. Accordingly he sent an invitation to thirty of them to come next clinic day and take a trip into the country. Twenty-one reported in time to join the excursion.

Severe Test of Osteopathic Treatment. "We went in eight large touring cars, having in the party six newspaper representatives, five men and one woman, two of whom had been patients, and also five osteopathic physicians," reports the osteopath who organized this interesting clinic.

"We drove over twenty-five miles of dusty road in many places lined on both sides with golden rod and rag weed. This ride in itself was one of the severest tests for a hay fever subject. Not one sneezed! At length we came to a large field containing acres of golden rod mingled with ragweed in full bloom. We drove into the field and alighted. It was a tense moment for me as I felt that osteopathy was on trial. The patients culminated freely among the flowers and weeds, knowing off the pollen which floated about in little clouds. We remained in the field twenty minutes which seemed an hour to me as I saw in the clouds of pollen the crucial nature of the test, especially since not one of the patients had received a treatment for four days. Not one sneezed while in

NEGRO IS CERTAIN HE WILL MAKE A SOLDIER

Had No Time to Linger in Court Because of Call.

James Davis, dark as clouded midnight, was visibly nervous in police court, Monday morning, when he listened to a patrolman tell how intoxicated Davis had been on Saturday night.

"I ain't got no time to stay here, judge," explained Davis when called forward for testimony. "I have been called to report for the army."

The negro produced a crease worn and dirty piece of paper which had been a notification to appear for physical examination at the Highland school on Monday morning. "Do you think you will pass the examination?" asked Judge H. W. Kerr. "Sure, I'm going to be a soldier," said Davis.

"Walk over to the other side of the room and back," commanded the judge. Davis tramped to the second steel post and returned to the judge's desk. The magistrate watched his movement carefully. The negro's feet sounded a little heavy as they struck the floor with a sort of padding sound, but his broad shoulders seemed capable of heavy action.

"I guess I will give you a chance to go to war," said the judge and motioned for Davis to be on his way towards the Highland school.

A Bit Nervous. Enmett O'Hara admits that he has been a bit nervous since the day he registered for a place in freedom's army. His malady has grown upon him since he was picked for service in the front rank. He sought solace in the wine cup on Saturday after he had been notified to report for examination at Rockport, Ill.

O'Hara was drunk when officers arrested him, late Saturday evening. He has been employed in Fort Wayne for several weeks. He is held in jail until Tuesday morning and arrangements will be made to have him examined in Fort Wayne.

Cannot Get Brother. George Lawson, rancher, had not heard of his brother, Eric, for many weeks before the police wrote George to come and get Eric, late Thursday. George hastened to Fort Wayne.

Eric, who has been shown to be feeble minded was held on a loitering charge. He is 29 years old, he had the court, and has not registered for draft. He was turned over to the sheriff on a "slacker" charge by Judge Kerr, Monday morning.

So George, who came after his lost brother, may be forced to return home without his charge. George believes that it might have been well to have made an investigation of the case before sending for him.

Who is Raymond? The more this young man is questioned the deeper the mystery of his identity grows.

He said he was George Paris and that he was raised in Pittsburgh. He was held on a loitering charge last Friday, while the police wrote to the Pennsylvania city. Reply received Sunday says that no such youth was reared in the smoky town.

"I am Raymond Lewis; I was born in Cleveland, Ohio," said the young man, Monday, after his first statement was branded as a figment.

The large youth will tell to Uncle Sam, as Judge Kerr bound him to federal authorities for investigation about his conscription status. The young man says he is 20 years old.

"I don't believe anything you say," Judge Kerr told him.

Other Police Court Cases. Jake Long, colored, of Holman street, will be tried on Tuesday on an assault and battery charge. It is alleged that he struck his wife, Daisy Long, and threatened her life with a revolver on Sunday.

Clyde A. Jackson will be tried on next Monday on a charge of stealing a diamond ring from a Baltimore, Md., citizen, who visited here a few weeks ago.

Jack Duval and Homer Fisk, charged with stealing an automobile, will be returned to Akron, Ohio, for trial Monday.

Outbursts of Everett True

Clara Branch, charged with defrauding a boardinghouse keeper, is held under $50 bond for trial on Tuesday.

Brisco Holmes, 35, was totting an unloaded rifle when arrested on Holman street, on a drunk charge, Saturday evening. He explained to police that he was hunting squirrels. On Monday morning he was fined $5 and costs.

Other intoxication cases were: Joseph Morgan, fined $1 and costs and sentenced to fifteen days at road work; Jack Smith, fined $5 and costs. Harry Vaughn, Joe Steiger and Lee Sache were released.

Harlen Martin and Gilbert Jackson, held on loitering charges were bound held until Wednesday, under $25 bond, on a like charge.

Elyal Taylor, charged with trespass will be tried Thursday.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM AT ROBISON PARK

Large Crowd Attends Flag
Raising and Old Soldiers' Day.

Not even a terrific thunder storm, which broke over Robison park Sunday, dampened the ardor of the large crowd which gathered there for the patriotic demonstration and flag raising. Many veterans and auxiliaries will remember for many days the program which was given.

The patriotic feature of the day was the flag raising, which was held at 3 o'clock, with Capt. W. A. Kelsey in charge of the ceremonies. The colors were hoisted by S. J. Hartshorn, the oldest civil war veteran in Fort Wayne. During the dedication ceremonies, Corporal L. W. Johnson, a veteran of eighty years, recited an original poem, entitled "What Caused the War." Miss Doris Sion Smith also gave a patriotic recitation. Captain Kelsey made an address and the Auburn band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

The parade formed at the pavilion at 4 o'clock, the Auburn band leading, closely followed by the veterans. Each marcher carried a small flag. Among the organizations in line were the civil war veterans, the members of the V. R. C. and the Ladies of the G. A. R. Judge S. M. Hench, department commander of the G. A. R., presided at the meeting and addresses were given by Avery M. Groves and Attorney Howard Benninghoff.

"I Believe in the Power of Newspaper Advertising"

THE daily press, I have found, is a prime factor in commercial activity of every kind. It is invaluable in broadening a market and in promoting understanding between the industrial institution and the public.

The press, in a sense, belongs to the public and enjoys its confidence and respect. That is fitting and proper, for I know of no greater and more unselfish force that is working for the interest of the public.

The unit of our national life is the community. On the prosperity of the community depends the prosperity of the nation. Fortunate is that community which has a good live newspaper, for its editorial and advertising activities are second to no force in building up and developing its territory.

Our civilization is based on specialization and specialization is based on the finding of a market for the product of the specialist. The newspaper finds this market and develops it, thereby developing the home community, making it bigger and more prosperous and a more satisfying place in which to live.

Before a newspaper can make itself a power, it has to absorb quantities of money and the best and untiring efforts of its many directors. Its founders had to show their faith in the community because a newspaper, more than any other commercial institution, identifies itself with its locality and lives and grows only through that identification. It is time that we recognized what the founding and developing of the press required on the part of the newspaper pioneers and those now in charge.

The press has made itself a great economic factor in the commercial activity of this age. It has demonstrated its worth to a point where I can say without hesitancy that I believe in the power of newspaper advertising to create, intensify and broaden business.

To gain a full realization of the influence of newspaper advertising, one has only to imagine the effect upon the business of this country of a sudden stoppage of all means of public announcements.

SHADY BROOK LOT WON BY ELLA M. KRATZSCH

The free lot, No. 95, in Shady Brook park, which was given away on the addition last Saturday at 5 p. m., was won by Ella M. Kratzsch, 516 West Second street. Mrs. Kratzsch is the wife of Fred Kratzsch, clerk in the Euro Dry Goods company. The lucky number was 11565.

About 1,000 people attended the drawing, which was held in the following manner: Those present chose three judges, namely, Philip Titus, Ermin Ruf and Mrs. Walburn. The stubs of the tickets were collected and twenty-three were drawn out by a little girl. The twenty-third one was 11565.

Shady Brook park addition has been very popular, and the lots have been snapped up rapidly. It is an indication that the people of Fort Wayne are realizing more and more the value of improved property, and is a splendid evidence of the continuous growth of the city. The success of Shady Brook park is a credit to J. S. Peddicord and

OVER TWO BILLION IN THE BUDGET PUT TOGETHER FOR WAR

Increases Amount Proposed by the House Bill About $150,000,000 and Hits Wealth Some.

TAX ON WAR PROFITS CLAIMED MILD

Washington, Aug. 6.—The war tax bill finally revised to meet latest estimates, was favorably reported today by the senate finance committee. It proposes to raise $2,006,970,000 by taxation.

The house bill proposed $1,867,000,000 in new taxes. No provision for additional bonds to be considered later by the house are made in the senate bill.

Chairman Simmons plans to call up the revised bill for debate the latter part of the week and hopes for its final enactment by congress early next month.

Where Weight Lies.

Most of the next taxes proposed under the revised bill for war expenses of the present fiscal year would come from incomes, war excess profits, liquor and tobacco taxes. The revised senate bill strikes out the retroactive tax upon last year's incomes but principally by increasing surtaxes on wealthy persons and by doubling the normal tax on corporations, proposes to raise $77,000,000 in addition to the $330,000,000 secured from incomes. It proposes a levy of $562,000,000 on war profits and extends the tax to the individual in trade of business as well as corporations. The tax on distilled spirits of $100,000,000 is raised to $135,000,000, that on beer from $37,500,000 to $45,000,000 and that on wines from $5,000,000 to $21,000,000. A prohibitive tax on further manufacture or importation of distilled beverages also is provided.

Features Retained.

The original senate provision for an increase of one-fourth of one per cent a pound in publishers' mailing rates and a five per cent tax upon their net incomes over $4,000 in lieu of the house

Summary of the Day's War News

Yesterday's tremendous cannonade on the Flanders battle front was followed last night by two German attempts to shake the British from their hold on important sections of newly won ground. Neither of these met with any success, whatever, London reports.

The first attack was launched in the Holoheke regions. The Germans did not even succeed here in reaching the British lines. Later the German guns laid down a barrage at Westhoek and the infantry tried to push in under its cover. They met with no more success, however, than they had done at Holoheke.

On the French front aside from the Flanders area there was considerable activity on the part of the Germans. They made attacks in the region of Beville at Avocourt wood and in Alsace. The French guns were able to

PARIS NEWSPAPER ADVISES AMERICA ON MONEY MATTERS

Paris, Aug. 6.—The Journal des Debats in a prominent review of finance calls attention that it is America's imperative duty to recognize obligations towards France which it cannot escape and that it must open credits to the allies as large as may be required, without which they cannot continue the war. The article points out that the status of the United States is different now that she is in the war and says that it must not expect the

SCENE OF TROUBLE SHIFTS.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 6.—The center of the uprising of the armed bands of objectors to the selective draft which for nearly a week has spread terror through four central southern Oklahoma counties, changed today from Seminole county to Hughes county, where two men were killed and two were injured last night.

Shortly before midnight Ed Blaylock, an objector, was shot to death near Holdenville and two members of the posse which his band encountered were wounded. Later, J. F. Moose, of Okemah, was shot and killed as he drove a motor

When the Samnites take over their sector on the French front they will profit by the experience of France and Britain. There is scarcely a day that General Pershing is not in conference with French or British officers getting "inside" pointers on how the greatest fight in the world is being carried on. The determination of Pershing that American troops shall not be found wanting at the front is shown in the set of his jaw as he listens to Field Marshal Joffre's description of needs on the western front. Note, too, the way their hands are clasped.

Extensive Changes in the Imperial Ministry Are Announced.

Amsterdam, Aug. 6.—In a character sketch of Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann (just appointed secretary of foreign affairs,) the Nieuwe Courant, of The Hague, says that Dr. von Kuehlmann has always been a vigorous opponent of ruthless submarine warfare. He is also, says the newspaper, a disciple of the policy of doing everything possible to avoid the further alienation of Great Britain, believing that after the war friendship between Great Britain and Germany is necessary to the latter. Dr. von Kuehlmann, the Nieuwe Courant says, is an anti-annexationist and the newspaper expressed the opinion that in the foreign secretaryship he will do his utmost to bring about an understanding with England at the earliest possible time.

Anti-Draft Agitator Had Narrow Squeeze in the South of State.

MEN IN AUTO GAVE HIM HOT PURSUIT

Socialist Candidate for Mayor or in Evansville Run Out of Town.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 6.—Following the delivery of a speech in Elberfeld, a small town north of here, Saturday night, Frank S. Lamont, socialist candidate for mayor of Evansville, was chased several miles by six men in an automobile, who are believed to have been bent on lynching.

For the past two weeks Lamont has been making speeches throughout southern Indiana in which he advised conscripted men that they do not have to go to war. He declares that the conscription bill is unconstitutional. Lamont had just finished his talk at Elberfeld and got into a machine with his wife and baby preparatory to returning here when the car containing six men appeared on the street.

One of the men yelled at Lamont, who, fearing bodily harm, ordered his driver to proceed. For three miles over country roads the machine sped at a terrific rate of speed. At a turn when his car was hidden from the pursuers, Lamont, his wife and baby got out and the driver continued with the other machine in pursuit. The Lamonts spent the night at a farm house.

Last night Lamont delivered a talk at Armstrong, which was very tame in comparison with others he has been giving. At the conclusion of his talk, John J. Nolan, postmaster of Evansville, took the platform and raked Lamont over the coals for his unpatriotic stand. Nolan was loudly cheered by the assembly and Lamont wasted little time in getting out of town.

CHINA'S ACTING PRESIDENT HAS CONFIRMED WAR

Peking, Thursday, Aug. 2.—(Delayed.)—Acting President Feng Kwo-chang today approved the decision unanimously reached at a special meeting of the Chinese cabinet to declare war on Germany and Austria-Hungary. The ministers of the entente powers probably will meet at the Chinese foreign office on Saturday to discuss China's declaration of war which is expected to be issued next week.

MUST CALL FOUR TIMES AS MANY MEN AS NEEDED

Approximately 24 Per Cent of Men Examined Likely Candidates For National Army.

SECOND DISTRICT TO CALL 1,000 MEN

Fort Wayne buckled down in earnest Monday in the work of examining candidates for the first conscription army of the United States. All three city boards and the county board examined the young men Monday morning.

Of the number of men who were examined up until noon in all the four districts only twenty-six per cent of them are being rejected upon re-examination.

Of the seventy-four per cent of applicants who pass the test sixty-five per cent are claiming exemption.

The 35 per cent of men who therefore have passed the test and have waived exemption are the sure candidates for the conscription army.

The number of men who will without a doubt be called into army service are practically 24 per cent of the total number of men examined. This will make it necessary for the boards to call in approximately four times as many men as the district is supposed to furnish. District No. 2 expects to send notices to 1,000 men.

The districts are asked to furnish the following number of men: District No. 1, 121 men; District No. 2, 107 men; District No. 3, 163 men, and the county, 113 men. By multiplying these figures by four, any likely candidate for call can figure whether he is liable to be called in on the first draft or not.

The examining boards in the four districts are meeting in the following places: District No. 1, 1818 temple; District No. 2, Harnmar school; District No. 3, Hoagland school; county district, grand jury room, third floor of the Allen county court house.

Some County Not Report.

In each of the four districts in the county it is reported that a few men who have been summoned have not reported as asked by the board. According to the law any man who is notified to appear for examination and fails to will be regarded as selected. If he fails to appear then when the call for service comes he will be termed a deserter and a deserter's fate in war time means a sentence to a federal prison.

It is thought, however, that the majority and perhaps all of those who have been requested to appear for examination have enlisted in the regular army. Work of checking up these men will be begun at once, say the chairmen of the respective boards.

Run Shy on Blanks.

All three boards in the city ran shy on examination blanks Monday morning. All three of them kept up the work until noon by making out blanks on the typewriter. A hurried order for 1,000 of the blanks was sent to Cleary & Bailey, printers, and they began work on them at once. It is believed that they would have them ready for delivery some time Monday afternoon.

CONGRESS WILL GET RECESS IF SENATE SPEEDS

Washington, Aug. 6.—A congressional recess in September is the goal towards which the leaders are now working. Before taking a vacation, however, congress must clean up important pending legislation.

The house already has cleared its slate of war legislation and is waiting for the senate to act. The most important of these measures are the conference reports on the food bills and the war tax bill. In addition some minor legislation may be taken up by the senate afterwards.

Meantime the house will take a series of three day recesses, the first of which will begin tomorrow.

Congress will take a recess of at least six weeks, according to present plans.

A PERFECT DAY WAS THE BOWSER OUTING

Over 2,000 People Enjoyed Hospitality of the "Old Man" Saturday.

The annual outing at Winona Lake of the employees of S. F. Bowser & Co. Saturday was more largely attended than any of the previous events of the kind and equalled, if it did not surpass, all others in a pleasurable way. Not a single accident or incident happened to mar the happiness of every one in the party and especially to S. F. Bowser, whose beaming countenance and hearty greetings, indicated the enjoyment he got out of witnessing the enjoyment of the men, women and children. There were fully 2,000 people in the crowd, counting the children not required to get railway tickets. From the time the first train deposited its load of humanity at the Winona station until the last train left on the homeward trip in the evening, there was one round of merriment. The elaborate program of athletic and aquatic contests arranged for the occasion was given to the latter and some of the feats would have been a credit to professional athletes, so well were they performed by the contestants. The expenses of the entire outing—railroad fare and entrance to the grounds included—were paid by S. F. Bowser, and the company allowed the office and shop force the same wages they would be entitled to were they at work. Bowser is popular with his employees and right he should be, for no employer ever made greater efforts to look after the welfare and enjoyment of his employees than he.

MANY WANT JOBS.

Hundreds of Women Want Work at Pennsylvania Shops.

While application of local women for work at the Pennsylvania shops is falling off slightly, applicants in other cities are getting busy, indicating that hundreds of them are ready and willing to come here to work in the railway shops. Frank S. Doriot, chief clerk for Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, received thirty-five applications by mail this morning, coming from all parts of the central states. Many of the letters contained clippings of the story of the company's determination to hire women as it was sent out by the Associated Press and published in the city papers. All will be answered.

QUITS RAILROAD WORK.

Charles Fisher Now Master Mechanic of Factory in Cleveland.

Friends of the appointee have been advised of a change made by Charles Fisher, which is a good promotion for him. Effective August 1, Mr. Fisher became the master mechanic of the factory at Cleveland of the Willard Storage Battery company, a concern which employs a number of men. Mr. Fisher was a motive power inspector for the Pennsylvania, working out of the office of P. F. Smith, Jr., chief superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh. Prior to five years ago, he was a motive

SHOCKED BY LIGHTNING.

Miss Cora Philley, of the shipping department of the General Electric works, was given quite a fright Sunday when lightning struck the home of her father, H. A. Philley, residing two miles out on the Decatur Interurban line. The bolt completely demolished the tall chimney of the house, sending brick, mortar and pieces of tile all over the adjacent lawn, and putting the electric lights and telephone out of commission. Miss Philley was standing near the switch and electric apparatus in the house and this was thrown open with a crash, shocking her slightly and frightening her considerably. Fortunately the house did not take fire.

GETTING READY FOR WOMEN.

Contractor Fred Kruckenberg began the work of raising the roof on the washroom and toilet building at the Pennsylvania machine and tank shops at the foot of Burr street for a second story, in which to locate a washroom and toilet room for the women who are to be employed in the shops as soon as this work has been completed. The room will be fitted up in sanitary style and will be 17x60 feet in dimensions.

ALL HER CHILDREN HERE.

Edward Lagerman and wife, of Dayton, O., are here for a two weeks' visit with relatives, among whom are her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Lagerman and William Lagerman, of 1402 Francis street, the latter employed in the Pennsylvania shops. This is the first time in seven years that all of the Lagerman children have been together and sometime during the week a family reunion will be held.

DEMOLISHED A BUGGY.

A runaway horse, attached to a buggy, dashed across the Pennsylvania tracks on Washington street, Gary, last night just ahead of train No. 19. The animal escaped, but the buggy was struck by the engine and smashed into smithereens. There was nobody in it. The horse broke from his fastenings up the street a few blocks from the road and ran away.

PETER NEUMAN RECOVERS.

Peter Neuman, machinist at the Pennsylvania erecting shop, resumed work this morning after an absence of three months, as a result of a fall. He was picking cherries at Warsaw one day, when the limb upon which he was standing broke and precipitated him to the ground, fifteen feet below, injuring him severely. He has completely recovered.

DAMAGED BY THE STORM.

Some of the ventilators at the Pennsylvania round house and the glass in some of the windows were broken by the wind storm which struck the round house Sunday afternoon. The crash created considerable excitement among the employees, but none was hurt. Master Carpenter D. C. Zook set some of his carpenters at work today making repairs.

FOREMAN TAKING VACATION.

HERE ARE SOME OF UNCLE SAM'S NEW SOLDIERS AT WORK LEARNING HOW TO "DID IN" SOMEWHERE IN AMERICA

Trenching is one of the first sciences of modern war-making. The United States officers' training camps exist to teach war science. Dirt on the khaki and blisters on the hands do not interfere. But these Sammies, out of law offices and clothing stores and other soft-handed pursuits, grin as they dig. This is the grin which Sammy has already made famous in France, and these are some of the men who will keep it smiling there.

THE LOAD!

Coming to work this morning, I saw a delivery kid about twelve years tall imitating a freight elevator. He was trying to navigate with two leather boxes a little bit bigger than the wood packages planes come in. Along came a wagon going in the kid's direction. It had the tail-gate down, and the kid staggered out. He hoisted the boxes up on the tail-gate. The hard-boiled driver turns around and yells to the kid, "Git off'n there! Don't y' tink dis."

Plug's got a heavy enough load tuh drag without yer freight?" The driver was right. That load of fat and ivory on the seat with a whip in his hand was a load. The kid hops off with his camel load and went back to hoofing again. A few minutes down the street the driver started wallowing the daylight out of his horse because it wasn't moving fast enough to please the fathead.

POVERTY DRIVES CHICAGO MOTHER TO GIVE AWAY HER SIX CHILDREN

MRS. MARY PALAMY AND CHILDREN.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Poverty has driven Mrs. Mary Palamy to give away her six children for adoption, so they may escape the suffering through which she has gone.

Mrs. Palamy advertised for foster-parents and the next morning a crowd of willing mothers gathered at her home. By noon, each of the six children had found new parents, while more men and women called to see them during the day.

The children range from the age of 1 to 9. Each has gone to a different home. John, the oldest, ran away from his new home and wanted to remain poor, but he was induced to return.

HOMER MILLS DROWNS AT TRI-LAKE SUNDAY

Young Boy Sinks Unnoticed by His Brothers or Any One of Many Bathers.

Sinking below the water unnoticed by either his brothers or any of the many bathers, Homer Mills, aged 14 years, son of Frank E. Mills, 3810 Fairfield avenue, drowned near the pier of Staples hotel at Shiner Lake of the Tri-Lake resort Sunday afternoon. His body was recovered an hour and a half later. Young Mills was a carrier of The Sentinel.

Homer with his two brothers, Robert and Burton, who are both younger, had gone into the water to seek relief from the heat. None of them was able to swim. The two younger boys noticed that their brother was missing and, frightened, ran to their father on the shore and told him where they last saw Homer.

Bathers and men who owned motor boats lent their assistance at once and the Fort Wayne police were called for assistance. Cy Andrews, the patrol driver, who is experienced in recovering drowned bodies, was rushed to the lake with the police grappling hooks.

Shortly before he arrived, Walter Homeld in a boat with A. M. Johnson brought up the body after it had slipped off the hooks three times. Dr. A. B. Williams worked to resuscitate him, but his efforts were of no avail. Coroner J. E. Briggs of Chubbuck, was called, after which the body was brought to Fort Wayne.

The deceased is survived by the parents and the two brothers.

IOWA TOWN SCENE OF A REDHOT WAR RIOT

Several Citizens Are Put Under Arrest Charged With Treason.

Lowden, Ia., Aug. 3.—Four persons, three of them past 60 years, were arrested by federal officers yesterday and charged with treason and resisting the government. Half a dozen others were questioned and it was announced more arrests were expected. This action followed an outbreak that approached a riot between citizens and pro-Germans Wednesday night.

The prisoners are: Albert Schaffer, 65, retired farmer; William Reichman, 60, furniture dealer; Ernest Meirer, 55, retired farmer, and Carl Gerhl, 35, farmer. All are reputed to be wealthy.

United States Marshal Moore and Deputy Healey arrived here from Cedar Rapids after they had been informed that this town of 700 population was a hotbed of sedition. Reichman has a son who enlisted in the army and he is reported to have said that he would rather see the boy dead than bearing arms against Germany.

The charges against the other men have not been made public. The trouble began early in July and it was said to have been accentuated by the dragging of a German flag behind an automobile in the Fourth of July parade. Feeling between the loyal and pro-German elements has increased since then, fanned by public and private utterances.

The mayor and marshal of the town and the sheriff of Cedar county were summoned to confer with the federal officers here.

Mayor Louis Hoeltje protested his loyalty to the United States, but admitted that he had taken no steps toward the arrest of trouble-makers. The Germans questioned by Marshal Moore were warned to conduct all public conversation in English.

The second storm, which occurred about 5 o'clock, was more severe than the first and lasted for about half an hour. Much damage was done to the corn.

MONDAY, AUGUST 6, 1917.

CHEATING THE MAN.

There will be set up, of course, "all proper defenses." For Mrs. Bianca DeSaules, who slew her former husband, John Longer DeSaules, in his time famous as a Yale football player and later gaining some prominence in eastern politics and divorce courts. Already several lines for justification or mitigation of the beautiful Chilean woman's mad and bloody deed have been indicated. Insanity suggests itself as the readiest and best-tested of them and it appears to have been embraced without loss of time.

But there is something to be said, it may be discerned, for the memory of the woman's slain spouse. He was not without occasion against the lady whose love he disappointed and whose life he made a wreck of. Mr. DeSaules, it appears, had been cheated. The South American beauty, whose putative wealth shared about equally in giving her to fame with her ineffable charms of person, was not rich at all. Instead of having yoked his fate with untold millions, DeSaules had spent his time and his own not too abundant cash pursuing and wooing a woman whose prospects were no greater than half the women to be met on a hot afternoon at any bathing beach on the Jersey coast. Having found that the most "beautiful woman in the world" was not the daughter of Midas, the American athlete took his wrongs deeply to heart, nourished his bitter obsession and cherished resentment. He sought nepenthe on Broadway, where nepenthe is most readily to be had and—the rest is the usual story. Mrs. DeSaules stood it for awhile and then got a divorce. That gave Mr. DeSaules his freedom, but it could not reconstruct a life that had been cheated of money in dreamed-of bales. Mr. DeSaules could not forget nor could he let his divorced wife forget. So quarrels that led to the courts were continued until the wronged wife went crazy with excess of Latin temper. It will become another celebrated case to take its place in the annals of wronged and murdering women along with others of ancient and modern times. The unfortunate Mr. DeSaules will not be on hand to make a defense of his good name and to bare his own bleeding heart and expose his own disappointments and wrongs at the hands of a woman who was taken to the embrace of his affections in the belief that she was bringing wealth untold and all its gilded easements into the life of a poor but eminent American young man, who wanted what was coming to him and merely "got strong" with the lady when he found he was not to have it.

The moral of it is, of course, that Chilean beauties and all others should be sure of their heirship before permitting American football players or impetuous celebrities of any sort or country to pursue them with grand passion over two or three continents and half around the world to make them and their prospects their own to have and to hold. Still, notwithstanding all that Mr. DeSaules must have gone through in the matter of blighted hopes and necessity to rustle his own bacon and eggs, we do not doubt that Mrs. DeSaules will be able through the interventions of competent lawyers to make out a sufficient case of dementia. The history of American jurisprudence offers a fine train of precedents upon which to build the hope and out of which to construct the defense. There is the rational misgiving that the affair will have to be made public, but there is the counteraction that the world is at war, which is likely to prove a usefulness in more respects than in merely making the world safe for democracy.

TAKE IT TO WASHINGTON.

It is stated that the reason Captain Harry Clark was not chosen to command of Battery B, of Fort Wayne, is that he declined to accept the commission. Another reason given is that he was wanting in certain qualifications of learning. Fort Wayne people interested in obtaining a square deal for their city and its soldiers and fair treatment for Captain Clark and recognition of his desire to serve his country in the place where he would seem to be best fitted to serve, may pitch in and help themselves to their choice of these reasons. Both reasons cannot be assigned. Captain Clark had been urged to accept the captaincy of Battery B and finally persuaded himself that it was his duty to do so. He asserts that he notified the adjutant general's office respecting that. And if the adjutant general's office felt in the first place that Captain Clark was a fit and qualified man for a captain's commission this is a tardy hour in which to justify kicking him out by saying he lacks education. That is a clumsy excuse at best and made more so by the floundering and wallowing Adjutant General Smith engages in when he attempts in one breath to say he has wanted Clark all the time and tried to get him and in the next breath says he is not a man of capable talents and education for a battery commander.

We hope this matter will not be allowed by Fort Wayne people to rest, but that it will be appealed to the war department. We do not believe that there is any patriotic obligation of this city to lie quietly under the insolence of General Smith's aspersion that Fort Wayne cannot produce men fit to be officers. If the policy of the military department of Indiana is to be continued as it has been pursued for the past month or two and specially as respects Fort Wayne and Fort Wayne soldiers, the sooner that is understood here the better. Fort Wayne has done and is doing her duty in all that relates to the national crisis and we do not believe there will be the least recession from that duty, but it ought to be that Fort Wayne can offer her duty without eliciting insolence, insult and suffering by prejudice of politics or other narrow concerns.

Again we say that the case of Captain Clark should be taken to the war department. Let him be judged fairly upon his merits as a gentleman and an officer. The day is not so long gone when the Indiana national guard felt that his service ornamented it.

THE DRAFT GOES WELL.

The conscription troubles in Oklahoma and in some narrow sections of southern states are more notable as isolated exceptions than as bare facts of resistance to the draft. There is a good deal of slacking and there are numerous claims for exemption throughout the country, but of physical resistance and open defiance of the law there are no instances of importance save in Oklahoma.

The trouble in the new state of the southwest lies almost wholly with an extremely miserable class of tenant farmers, long embittered by squalid poverty and sordid oppression, who have been joined by some half-breed Indians and a sprinkling of negroes. Altogether they have made up considerable mobs of ignorant and simple-minded persons who were easily seduced by absurd schemes for starting a revolution, seizing the land and making wealth and ease the portion of all. No doubt enemy agents have not been slow to assist this grotesque propaganda, but it may very well have all come about entirely free from any such sinister interventions. With classes of people of that sort it is no difficult matter to start impossible social and political movements.

The real state of the case is that the draft is proceeding with fine order and absence of trouble. It is an example to the whole people that a radical departure from all the usages and precedents of the government in levying troops has been accepted with such a ready acquiescence is proceeding without friction or disturbance. The sporadic outbreaks, due to squalid ignorance and prejudice or fomented by irresponsible agitators or stirred up by enemy agents, in no wise and to no extent gain-say that the plan of selective conscription is proving itself thoroughly.

Adjutant-General Smith compliments Fort Wayne with more than hint that the fighting men up this way are not fit to become officers and those cursed by origin hereabouts can overcome the handicap only by making an end of these diggings and wooing better fate and fortune in Indianapolis. That would be fine if everybody could, but not everybody can and quite a few wouldn't if they could. These aspersions of the quality and caliber of Fort Wayne's young men who are willing and ready to give the nation their all will be good things to record and refer to now and then.

One statesman whose fledgling career in Washington has just begun complains that under legislation enacted or pending for enactment the president of the United States will have more power than any king. Here's hoping. With the stupidities and slacking in the congress of the United States with which he has to deal to get things done for the war, faith he needs all the power of Grand Kahn of Tartary to enable him to see the nation through.

The Butte lynchings started in the finest way imaginable to make the I. W. W. menace a case of civil war—not to speak of choosing murder as the means of it.

THE SECRET OF YOUTH.

(Edgar J. Goodspeed, in the Atlantic.)

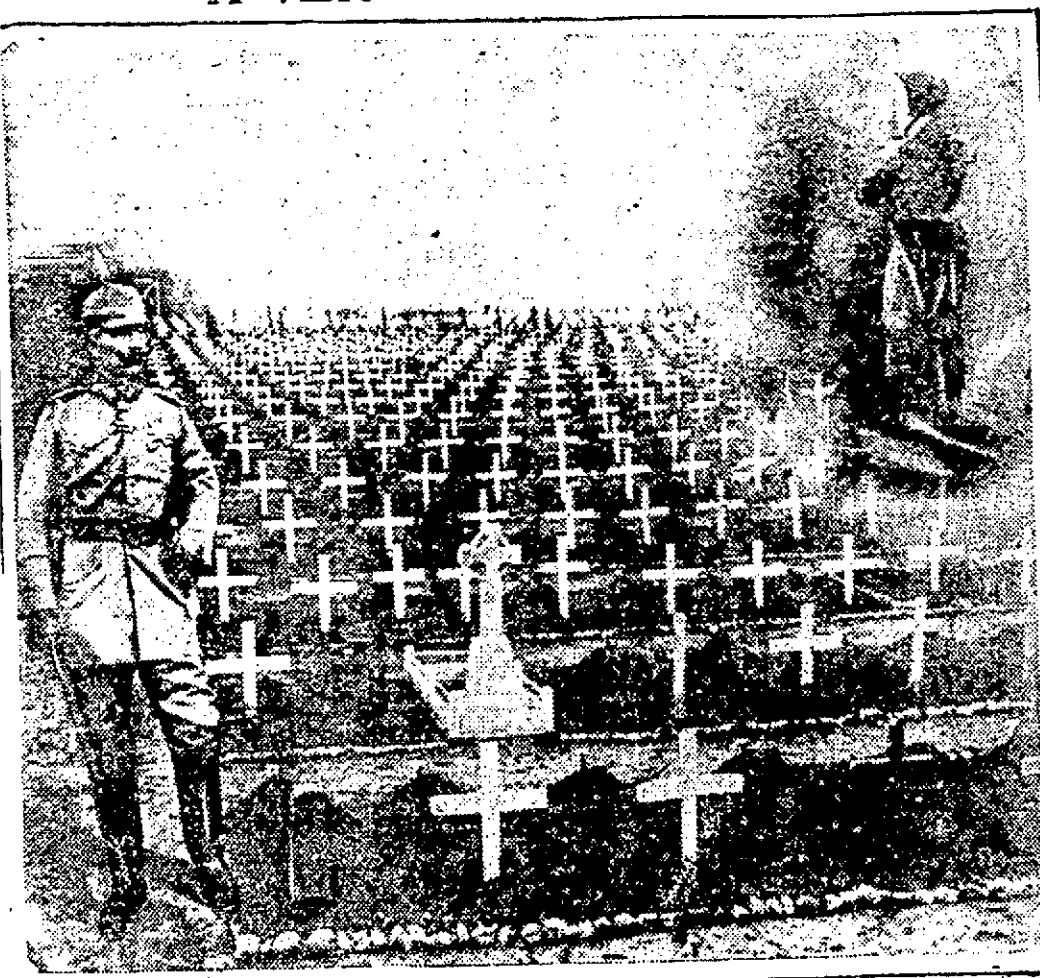

After all, the plain truth is that adventure consists less in the experiences one actually has than in the indefatigable expectancy with which one awaits them. Indeed, I sometimes fear that people must be divided into those who have adventures and those who appreciate them. And between the two the affinity is not far from perfect.

We are possessed of the affinity, adventure itself is, at most, just round the corner from us. This opens the life of adventure to all who crave it. One possibility lies in merely crossing a street, for example! Some one remarked the other day as he dodged across among the motor-cars, "Why not take a chance now and then and lead a real life for a few minutes?"

I therefore recommend the life of adventure. It conceives each day as a fresh enterprise, full of delightful possibilities and promise, and so preserves the wine of life from growing flat.

Here is the secret of youth.

A VISION OF THE FUTURE

Special Bureau in Washington to Answer Questions of Men Who Want Exemption from Army

BY GILSON GARDNER.

A parade of interrogation points terminates at the office of Major Gullion, down in the old land office building. The major has been made official interpreter of the draft law—so far as the public is concerned. He is the man in Washington from whom an inquirer can get yes, or no, answered "right off the bat."

For instance, enters the private secretary of United States Senator Smoot, Mormon and one of the Twelve Apostles.

"Is a Mormon missionary engaged in carrying the gospel of Mormonism away from his native town, subject to the draft law? Is he a minister of the gospel within the meaning of the law? Must he claim exemption where he is or where his home used to be?"

Another Mormon question: "The secretary of Senator Smoot is drafted. Is he a government employee and will he be entitled to exemption as such?"

Answer: "The only way in which he can be excused is for Senator Smoot to make affidavit that no one else can fill his place."

The next inquirer is a messenger in the war department, and the answer to the messenger is the same. If Secretary Baker will approve an affidavit, saying no one else can be as good a messenger, then this messenger will be excused.

Enter John Smith demanding to know: "My wife worked before we were married, she is not working now and is dependent on me for support. Can I claim exemption on this ground, or must I consider the fact that my wife can go to work again and earn her living?"

A man from Porto Rico says: "I have a dependent wife and child; and if he am I to get an affidavit from a neighbor when my neighbor lives in Porto Rico and it will take weeks to get mails back and forth?"

Answer: "Get your local board to extend the time for an appeal from their decision."

Enter a man with a smile: "The local board exempts me on the ground that I must support my wife and child. Am I now free to make my plans for the next year?"

Answer: "No, every case where the board excuses a man because of dependent relatives is appealed by the government to the district board. These appeals may be merely formal and never prosecuted, or they may be prosecuted."

The smile fades. Enter a letter carrier: "I suppose there is no doubt that I get off on account of being in the government service, in a necessary branch of the service?"

"Not at all," says Major Gullion, "if you get off it will be on the basis of an affidavit approved not only by your immediate superior officer and by the head of the government department, but the postmaster general in this case, or some body designated by him to make such approval. The assumption is that you want to go and fight for your country, and that some one else can be found to carry your bag or sort your grist."

That is the way it goes all day long. The major is not really supposed to interpret the law at all, he is just designated to furnish casual information to governors, 450 local boards and 620 federal boards, and, incidentally to take care of the newspaper men who may want to know things. Gullion has already earned a promotion from captain to major, and if he survives he will be a general in a few weeks.

made his first speech and emphasized two points:

First—That he and Chairman Hurley were not going to scrap about the respective merits of wooden and steel ships, but were going to try to build as many of both as possible.

Second—That he and Hurley both considered themselves as mere units in the great scheme to defeat the U-boats, and would spend their time working and not quarreling.

FIRST OF THE FLEET TO BEAT THE U-BOAT READY IN NOVEMBER

BY MILTON BRONNER.

The first ship in that famous bridge of ships which the United States is to build across the Atlantic to defeat the German U-boat campaign will be completed in November of this year.

A few more will be completed in December of this year and January and February of 1918. The great bulk of those contracted for will come in the spring and summer of 1918.

So it turns out that while Major General Goethals and William Denman were having their controversy, which resulted in their both getting out, work was nevertheless actually being done on the shipbuilding program.

Here are the facts as they stand today:

Contracts for 353 ships of all kinds have been actually signed, sealed and delivered and work on many of these is being pushed.

Contracts for 115 more ships of all kinds are in complete shape, save for the final signatures, which will come very shortly.

And here are the kinds of ships provided for in these contracts:

Seventy-seven are steel ships whose tonnage ranges from 5,000 to 3,400.

Forty-eight are composite wood and steel ships, whose tonnage averages 3,500.

The balance are wooden ships whose tonnage is 3,500.

One hundred and ten ships of all kinds have been contracted for on the Pacific coast.

One hundred and sixty-six ships have been contracted for in the south.

The lumber men of the south were one cause for a slowing up in shipbuilding. They were under pledge to furnish lumber at an average price of $35 per thousand feet. Of the first 100 ships, lumber has been provided for only 63.

The result is the other day Chairman E. N. Hurley, of the shipping board, and Rear Admiral Capps, general manager of the emergency fleet corporation, had a meeting with lumber representatives.

In polite language they told the lumbermen where they got off. Noting so much as "commander-in-chief" was spoken, but the lumbermen saw the point and the lumber will be forthcoming—1,500,000 feet for wooden ships.

The meeting was interesting for another reason. Admiral Capps, who has refused to talk for publication, made his first speech and emphasized two points:

First—That he and Chairman Hurley were not going to scrap about the respective merits of wooden and steel ships, but were going to try to build as many of both as possible.

Second—That he and Hurley both considered themselves as mere units in the great scheme to defeat the U-boats, and would spend their time working and not quarreling.

IN THE WAKE OF FREEDOM.

Start a people on the path of democracy and it is hard to say what it won't do. There is China, where once a race brought under the yoke of the Tartar brought only one American cigarette a year per head of population. Now they buy ten times as many, or about 4,000,000,000. The old opium pipe hangs over the fireplace, perhaps gilded and with ribbons tied about it. Maybe in the old poppy fields of India the modern farmer is trying to raise Burley weed. Young Ah Sin smokes the kind it would be useless for him to ask about, for dad toyed with the pill and the lamp; and the kind that gives you that happy feeling, and particularly the kind of which not twenty may be had for a nickel. Riches and honor are what men desire, said Confucius, and a pack of cigarettes.

There is Russia, where within a week a yoke more galling than that of autocracy has been thrown off the bank clerks of Petrograd having risen on the ruins of their stools and hurled their coats at the nearest nail. "Be free like Americans; take off your coats!" cried Kerensky of these scribes, and not only all the bank clerks but all the other clerks in the Russian capital have taken the great step. Imagine the happiness of the office worker, hitherto in chains of wool, as he swings his pen to write out a receipt for taxes paid by N. Romanoff to the republic. We are informed that Russian suspenders are violent in color. This points out another possible stroke of freedom. Suspenders, of all forms of subjugation, are the vilest. It is hard to understand how the Russian people, even under Ivan the Terrible have stood for them.

Americans make bells, sleeve protectors, and fancy striped shirts. May we not sell a couple of hundred millions of each to the new democrats? Let the American manufacturer offer something novel in belt, such as genuine Russia leather, found only on the steppes of South America.

"SHOCK UNITS" IN WAR.

(Grand Rapids Press.)

The use of "shock" units by the German armies is not in itself an evidence of weakened manpower because the English armies in France are doing the same thing. It is the German method of organization that indicates a lower standard of fighting strength in the Kaiser's armies.

The "shock" units are bodies of picked men employed to do a particularly difficult and hazardous piece of fighting. The English plan is to have one or more of these units with each battalion or regiment. The best men of each company are picked for a place in it. The method of selection might be compared to that used in organizing a college football team where men from all classes and departments compete.

TWO DELEGATES GO TO
K. OF C. CONVENTION

Annual Meeting at Chicago to Be Attended by Local Knights.

Two delegates from Fort Wayne, Stephen Callahan, local grand knight, and Maurice Niezer, general chairman of the war camp fund campaign in Allen county, will attend the annual convention of the Knights of Columbus, which opens in Chicago Tuesday morning. Delegates from every state in the union will be present for the convention.

The foremost subject at the convention will be the raising of the million dollar fund for the benefit of Catholic soldiers in the training camps. This campaign was held several weeks ago and met with the greatest possible success. Definite figures on the results of the campaign will be announced during the course of the meeting.

The war committee of the K. of C. has already awarded contracts for $100,000 worth of buildings for recreational purposes and for chaplains' quarters, and additional contracts for fixings will soon be awarded.

Headquarters for the Knights in Chicago will be at the Hotel Lorraine. Day sessions are to be held on the roof garden and evening sessions in the ballroom.

COMPANY K OF AUBURN
IS READY TO LEAVE

Militia is Mobilized at Armory and Will Be Called Within Few Days.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Auburn, Ind., Aug. 6.—Company K, of Auburn and vicinity, has been called. Over 100 men, including three officers, assembled at the armory and prepared to leave for Hattiesburg, Miss., where they are to be stationed.

The company was organized Sunday that the men might be permitted to return to their homes to spend the night because of the lack of facilities to take care of them at the armory. The calling out of the company caused a great deal of interest to be manifested in the latest action of the government and the armory was crowded most of the day by friends and relatives of the soldiers watching the preparations to make this home for two weeks, go on.

The men will be fed there and drilling will occupy most of the time. Captain Stump was still undecided just what course would be taken, but in his opinion the men would be drilled about four hours a day. Five more recruits have been added. They are Lloyd Ruhl, Auburn; Harold D. T. Dean, Joseph Wilondek, of Garrett; Robert S. Wiley, Cromwell; Chester E. Harner, Auburn. Three men—Fred Beasly, Clarence Gents and Ralph Rugman, are expected to get their discharges. The company now has 100 men and three officers, making Company K about fifty men short.

Auburn Short Notes.
More than twenty women of Auburn worked in the heat Saturday preparing comfort kits for the Red Cross work. These kits will go to the Auburn soldiers.

Interest is being manifested here in the big canning demonstration to be held at the offices of the gas company Monday and Tuesday and Mayor McClellan has issued an appeal to every house wife to attend this display and class, at which the most improved and latest methods in canning and preserving will be done. Two demonstrators from Purdue university will give the demonstration and it will be similar to that done by Miss Nancy Barr in the basement of the Methodist church some time ago.

Auburn, is to have a big revival meeting soon. Evangelist Charles H. Harrison, of Indianapolis, has been

MILLIONAIRE LUMBER DEALER PASSES AWAY

Addison B. Nickey Was at
One Time a Stockman in Allen County.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Columbia City, Aug. 6.—Addison B. Nickey, millionaire lumberman and financier of Memphis, Tenn., who thirty years ago was a prominent township, Allen county, operating with his sons, William and Samuel, at Chubbuck and Auburn, later at Princeton, where they owned a sawmill several years, died early Saturday morning at Long Beach, Cal., where he had been taken several months ago at his own request, following an operation for prostritis, after which he was seized with Parkinson's paralysis, or shakings palsy. The deceased would have been 73 years of age August 8. The news of his death was received in this city by E. L. McLallen, whose deceased wife, Mrs. Maximilian McLallen, was a daughter of the deceased. A cousin, W. S. Nickey, also survives, residing in Columbia City. Mr. Nickey was wedded to Miss Orpha Mossman, of Whitley county, and she and the following children survive: William and Samuel, of Memphis, and Mrs. Alice Sanders, of Portland, Ore. A sister, Mrs. Samuel Pierce, of Allegheny, Mich., also survives. During the last ten years Mr. Nickey was head of the Green River Lumber Co., of Memphis, one of the largest enterprises in the country. He is said to have been the first person ever operated upon, west of the Alleghenies, for appendicitis. The operation was performed thirty-five years ago by Dr. George Stemen, of Fort Wayne, with ten other surgeons present. The remains will be brought to Memphis, Tenn., for burial.

Columbia City Brief Items.
Through the L. M. Melser real estate company the Grover Walter home on South Oak street has been sold to Webster Hively, of Thornecreek township, for $2,975, with possession at once. Mr. Walter will rebuild.

Glenn Egolf, grandson of Peter Egolf, of this city; Jacob Swihart, son of Mrs. Alice Swihart, of Elma, and Corwin Ellis, son of Mrs. James Ellis, of this city, left Sunday for Fort Wayne to join Battery B, which left on that day for Indianapolis.

Principal D. D. Ramsey, of Richmond, who this year succeeds T. B. McGuire in the principalship of the West Ward building, spent Saturday here looking up a home. He will move here about August 29 with his family, a wife and two children.

J. A. Henderson, formerly of this city, where he was engaged in the tree business, passed away in Pittsburg, Pa., Friday. He came to Whitley county about 30 years ago and was wedded to Della Stradley. He later moved to Pennsylvania, where he entered the service of a buggy company. No relatives reside here.

Mrs. A. G. Fausz, of Fort Wayne, state inspector of hospital supplies, will visit the local Red Cross sewing rooms Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, and all ladies are requested to be present.

The state case pending against Edward Krag, of South Whitley, for assault and battery with intent to kill, was dismissed in Judge Jellison's court at that place Saturday. Prosecutor George Compton represented the state, and D. V. Whiteleather the defense. The case arose out of an accident in which Krag, endeavoring to pass Rev. Helms, of South Whitley, struck the conveyance of the latter.

Summer Complaint.
During the hot weather of the summer months some member of almost every family is likely to be troubled with an unnatural looseness of the bowels, and it is of the greatest importance that this be treated promptly, which can only be done when the medicine is kept at hand. Mrs. F. F. Scott, Scottsville, N. Y., states, "I first used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy as much as five years ago. At that time I had a severe attack of summer complaint and was suffering intense pain. One dose relieved me. Other members of my family have since used it with like results."—Advertisement.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE

BY SEVERE STORM

Crops Suffer and Buildings,
Trees and Wires Damaged
Sunday Afternoon.

A rain and electrical storm, accompanied by a gale which attained a velocity of forty-eight miles an hour, did much damage in Fort Wayne and portions of Allen county Sunday afternoon.

Corn and oats were rolled flat to the ground and much of it was broken off, patriotic gardeners of the city saw their war crops ruined, shade trees were blown down and limbs were broken off, buildings were damaged and telephone and telegraph service was greatly damaged.

As a prelude to the more severe one, a storm bringing with it some rain and a slight wind struck the city at 3:45 o'clock. The more severe storm arrived about 5 o'clock.

Sections in the country between Fort Wayne and Hometown suffered a great loss in crops.

A large plate glass window in the Kresge Five and Ten cent store was broken when the awning was blown through it. The awning at the Steele-Myers store, on West Berry street, crashed through two of the large windows. Three hats in the display window were caught by the wind. One of them was recovered, badly damaged, while the other two were hardly recognizable.

A large tree on South Wayne avenue, near the blown down and fell across the trolley wires. Two poles were broken out. Quick service on the part of the line-men prevented any one from getting hurt. Flag poles in Lawton park and

Fort Wayne's Heart Throbs As It Sends More Youths to Fight for Liberty.

TWENTY THOUSAND SEE BATTERY LEAVE

Judge S. M. Hench Stirs His Audience With Thrilling Address.

Made happy by the fact that it had youths to give to fight for liberty yet saddened by the unenviable feeling which accompanies departures, Fort Wayne's heart throbbed as it bade farewell to Battery B, the second contingent to leave the city, Sunday morning.

Amid the cheers of 20,000 voices and the hundreds of calls of "Godspeed," and the silenced sobs of compassionate mothers and saddened sweethearts, the special train which took the boys to Fort Benjamin Harrison steamed from the Lake Erie and Western railway station at 11:15 o'clock.

Patriotic Fort Wayne forewent its Christian duty Sunday morning to participate in the rousing farewell demonstration. Following the addresses of W. H. Scheinmann and Judge Samuel M. Hench at the Anthony hotel a parade was given as an escort to the battery.

Two bands and four drum corps provided the music for the occasion and every patriotic organization in the city turned out and took part. The veterans of the civil war and the Spanish-American war, Company E, Company B and Boy Scouts were prominent.

At Calhoun and Columbus streets where the parade turned west, the battery broke ranks and "double timed" it to the Lake Erie & Western freight depot where the passenger coaches awaited them. The boys boarded the cars here and then the train pulled into the station where good-byes were said through the car windows. Major Sol J. Carter, who was here to assist in getting the battery away, stated that he hated to do this, but that he found it necessary as the crowd was so large that it would have been a great hindrance in loading the men. He said that had they attempted to board the cars at the station that they would have been an hour late in getting started.

At the Anthony. Battery B, marched to the Anthony hotel at 9:15 o'clock where they were arranged in double company front. W. H. Scheinmann, president of the Fort Wayne council for patriotic service, gave a brief preliminary address and introduced Judge S. M. Hench as the speaker.

Judge Hench, who is a veteran of the civil war and state commander of the G. A. R., stirred his audience with the fervid patriotism in his remarks and urged the boys who were about to depart to follow the flag wherever it went and told of the great patriotic duty which they would soon be called upon to perform.

In part the speaker said: "And now you are called to fight for the greatest flag on earth. Some where in France, perhaps in Russia or Turkey, you will carry its gleaming folds that all mankind may know of the joy of freedom and civil and religious liberty. That old flag is our hope and our pride. It will go with you even as our hopes and our prayers will go with you as you go forth to battle. We know what it is to speak of the baptism of fire. You will defend our colors equally as well, for we know that Old Glory was never lowered in defense of liberty and your cause for a world freedom is truly a holy one."

"I would have you recall, too, my friends, and these good mothers who now behold their departing soldier sons through a mist of tears, that the mothers of France, that France which is bleeding in awful storm of war, sent their sons to America to aid our struggles in the Revolution. Now that freedom which they helped our forefathers gain and the blessings of liberty and peace it is destined for you to take back to France. Before the Declaration of Independence was signed, the French nation had sent us a million dollars and before it was consummated at the end of the seven years' struggle Americans and sons of France were fighting side by side for American freedom."

"To you members of Battery B, I would say in conclusion, we know that our loved country and its flag are safe in your keeping. God bless you. God protect and keep you, sustained by the remembrance of the valor of American soldiers from Yorktown to Appomattox. May He who blessed and preserved unto us a nation be with you until your duties are ended."

After Mr. Scheinmann had wished the men God speed the order was given for the starting of the parade. Mess Fund Donations. Not only did the city show its patriotism and uphold its record of martial achievements by turning out in large numbers to say good bye, but everyone donated liberally to the Battery B mess fund. Donations received in an American flag totaled $463.78. This was a notable achievement and vouchsafes that the boys of the battery will have equipment at meal times.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the departure made arrangements with the Y. W. C. A. and 225 lunches were loaded on the train for the benefit of the boys' hunger. Sixteen gallons of steaming coffee was also given them.

Extends Thanks. "To the citizens of Fort Wayne: "The undersigned committee having in charge the arrangements for the farewell to the boys of Battery B, desire in this manner to extend sincere thanks and appreciation to the people of Fort Wayne, for the hearty cooperation and assistance shown by them in tribute to the young men who have gone to fight for the Stars and Stripes. We desire to particularly thank the speaker of the day, Judge S. M. Hench, the bands, drum corps and military organizations and all others who contributed their services on this patriotic occasion. We feel that the people of Fort Wayne paid a fitting farewell to those of our citizens who have offered their services to their country and that the occasion is one long to be remembered."

SIGNAL CORPS WORKING HARD

Federal Inspection Was Held Saturday Evening by Lieut. Bush.

NOW IN SERVICE OF UNITED STATES

Kenneth S. Crighton is Made First Class Sergeant—Other Promotions.

The inspection of Company B, Indiana Signal corps, was held Saturday evening at Concordia college by Lieutenant Bush of the United States Signal reserve, and results were more than pleasing to the inspecting officer and to the officers of the company.

Following an inspection of drill maneuvers, visual signaling and telegraphy, the company was complimented by Lieutenant Bush, not only on the showing made, but also on the branch of service which the men had selected.

The lieutenant stated that this branch of the service was one of the highest, one that offers an unlimited opportunity to every man that gives his best efforts in its behalf, and try hard to make the work a great success.

With Lieutenant Bush on the inspection trip was Captain Brennan of the Tenth U. S. Infantry, who was present for the purpose of making an efficiency report.

Sunday morning, the trumpet, Clarence Flegel, sounded the first call at 6:20 o'clock which brought the Signal corps, Company B, into federal service. They were mobilized as a unit of the Indiana national guard, but automatically entered federal service according to orders from the war department.

The work of drilling, practicing signal work, and attending school was carried on throughout the day, and for mess the company marched to the new Utility building, where they are being catered to by the Summit City restaurant. This schedule will be maintained every day until orders to proceed are received.

By an order read prior to the inspection Saturday evening, Kenneth S. Crighton was made a first-class sergeant and first sergeant of the company.

Other promotions were also made, although a number of vacancies still exist in the "non-com" grades.

Will Meet Tonight.

Those interested in Company E and Company B, particularly the mothers and sisters of the infantry and signal corps members, are asked to meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the assembly room at the court house to plan for a benefit in aid of the soldiers.

MAYOR IS BESIEGED BY ANXIOUS MOTHERS

How to Keep Sons Out of Conflict is Main Topic.

Anxious mothers are literally besieging Mayor Hoesy in efforts to induce him to use his influence for keeping young men out of war. The mayor is also being called upon by conscript subjects who want to know from him the possible grounds for exemption.

The mayor can only read the draft law and interpret the meanings of its several sections for the quaking men and nerve-torn mothers. He will make no effort to appeal in behalf of any citizen before the exemption boards, he frankly states.

One distracted mother, who claims that her son is her only source of support, spent much time in the mayor's office Monday morning, in an endeavor to secure the mayor's aid in having her boy released from Battery B. The woman said her son, who is just eighteen, enlisted in the battery without her knowledge. He told her that he felt it his duty to aid United States in the conflict, and when she objected he signed up for service without her knowledge, the woman said. She did not know that he was to leave with the battery until Sunday morning, she tearfully explained.

Mayor Hoesy has directed the mother to write officers at Indianapolis, where Battery B is now encamped, and to state her condition before the military officials. He thinks there is a chance of the lad being released if it is clearly shown that his mother will suffer from poverty in his absence.

Young men, many of them stalwart and apparently fit subjects for the national host, have begged audience with the mayor during the past two days to talk about matters of army exemption. In several cases the mayor has been asked to appear before the draft boards in behalf of the conscription subjects. Mayor Hoesy refuses to take a part in any effort to diminish the fighting strength of democracy.

"If the boys have a valid excuse for staying at home they will be exempted without my aid," says the mayor. "I do not feel that any personal pressure should be brought to bear on any members of the draft commission."

FOREIGN SPY SUSPECT HELD

Arrest Made at Electric Works by Deputy Marshal Haggerty.

PRISONER MAKES AN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Refuses to Give Up Until Officer Draws His Revolver.

Suspected of being a spy, a young foreigner, giving the name of Eric Larson, was arrested Sunday night at the plant of the General Electric company by Deputy United States Marshal W. H. Haggerty, who found Larson apparently trying to take pictures of the works.

When questioned about his presence there and as to what he was doing Larson is alleged to have told the officer that "it was none of his business." Deputy Marshal Haggerty took Larson to the county jail where he was detained until Monday morning, when a hearing, started in police court, developed the fact that Larson had not registered. He was then given over to federal authorities, who gave him a preliminary hearing. An affidavit was filed against Larson by Sheriff George W. Gillie, charging him with attempting to evade the draft law.

Larson is about 29 years of age and is a Norwegian, although he speaks English fluently. He was unable to give a good account of himself to the federal authorities. He said that his residence was in this city but would not disclose where he came from, although it was learned that he had a brother, a prosperous farmer, in Illinois, whom the court has located. Larson is described as a person of good appearance and one whose ordinary actions would not attract suspicion.

Officer Draws Revolver.

When Marshal Haggerty attempted to make the arrest, Larson resisted and it was necessary for the officer to draw his revolver before he could take Larson in custody. Larson will be given further hearing Friday afternoon before T. J. Logan, United States commissioner of the federal district court. The affidavit against him charges an attempt to evade the draft law, but it is possible that a more serious one may be brought against him if it is shown to be justifiable by the evidence.

River Solves Mystery of Dr.
Ackerman, Toledo Wo-

(Staff Special.)
Toledo, O., Aug. 6.—Married and divorced as a man, wearing man's attire, doing his work, adhering to man's customs and activities for the last whose body was found in the Maumee river here—the body of a woman.

Knowing she could not establish her age, having been born in Russia, Dr.
Ackerman feared she would be called for selective service examination, and her secret would be discovered. That, neighbors say, combined with financial difficulties and ill health, led her to suicide.

Police say, also, Dr. Ackerman admitted man's attire to keep a child, believed to be hers, in New York, and dreaded the physical test because discovery of her sex would disqualify her from supporting the child.

Dr. Ackerman's "wife" never knew her "husband" was a woman until told by the police. The woman's closest friends, physicians who had examined
"him" for signs of tuberculosis, members of the synagogue which he frequented, even girls to whom "he" is said to have made love—were astounded to hear that Dr. Ackerman had deceived them.

For twenty-four years since she came from Russia, the girl succeeded in growing up from "boyhood" to
"manhood"—in marrying another girl, even—without creating suspicion!

Her real name no one knows. Even her divorced "wife," who is now Mrs.

she came or who she really is.

"I don't know where 'he' came from.
I don't know any relatives 'he' might have had. I married 'him' in New York. I don't know anyone in New York who might know 'him,'" she declared.

Neighbors knew Dr. Ackerman as a quiet, pale-faced "man" who would rather spend the evenings reading or sitting on the porch, than frequenting cafes. Dr. O. M. Main, friend of Ackerman, said he often walked to work with "him," but never suspected he was a woman.

Friends still find it difficult to explain the woman's apparent delight in making love to her own sex. They recited numerous occasions when she made love to other girls.

NINE ARE HURT WHEN AUTO LOOPS THE LOOP

Car Turns Completely Over as It Strikes Avenue Curbing.

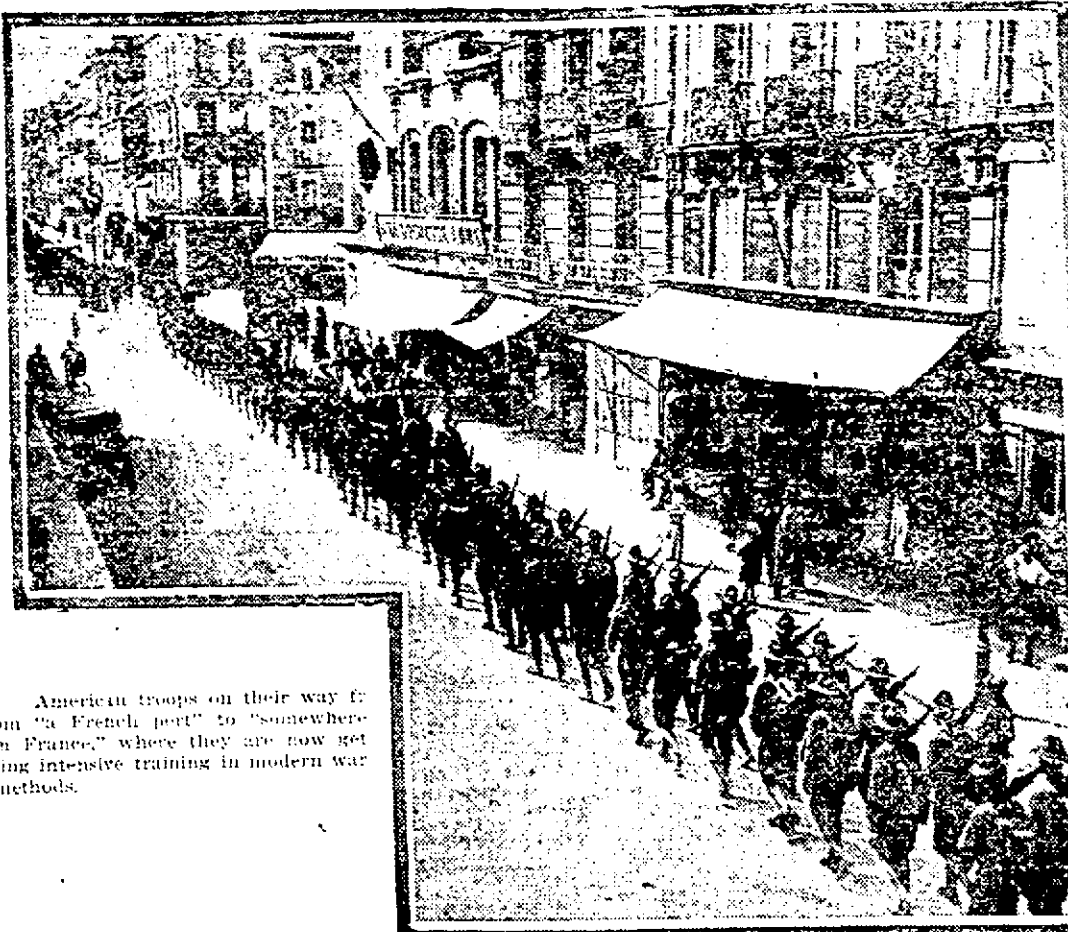

Nine occupants of a large touring car were all injured when the machine turned completely over upon striking the curb in front of 2914 Maumee avenue, Sunday afternoon. The machine hit the curb at an acute angle and literally looped the loop, landing on its wheel again.

The injured are: Fred Snyder, 1434 Wataash avenue, shipping clerk of the National Mill Supply company, who suffered spinal injury, a laceration in his head and a fractured right shoulder; Joseph Snyder, 14, brother of the driver, who was injured; Edward Snyder, 14, brother of the driver, who was injured; Margaret Snyder, 11, sister of the driver, who was injured; Adolph Snyder, 5, left knee injured; Margaret Snyder, 5, cuts and bruises on arm; Martha Snyder, 2, back hurt and head cut; and Homer Krick, 2129 Maumee avenue, side of head hurt.

Krick was driving the car. He was taking the Snyder family to call upon relatives in Jefferson township. His car was damaged at the corner of Maumee and Glasgow avenue when he collided with an ice truck which turned around at the corner. Both machines were traveling slowly and their drivers believed that neither of the motors were damaged. A rail of the road was bent in the Krick car, however.

The damaged touring car caused the machine to swerve wildly when Krick had attained a fair rate of speed further out on Maumee avenue. The car shot towards the curb. It hit the curb stone and turned over. None of the occupants of the machine, although they were violently shaken, were hurt. The car came to rest on its wheels in an upright position. Members of the party were assisted into the home child must realize the greater opportunity and co-operate toward making it a success. It is a well-established fact that the greater co-operation between the school authorities and the parents of a community, the greater will be the accomplishments in that community.

Probably no better brief statement of the purposes of the junior high school has been made than a digest by Dr. Withers from the annual report of Philip W. Cox, former superintendent of schools at Solway, N. Y.

"The educative process, if intelligent, is the setting up of experiences and obtaining correct responses from the pupils, such that they tend thereafter to react in similar situations in the way that has been found to be best for society and the individual. These experiences are set up by the school organization, the content and method of the curriculum and by the personality of the teacher.

Education that Fits Child.

"If, therefore, pupils differ in capability, in type of mental traits, in probable future vocations, in home and neighborhood environment and in responsiveness to the more or less artificial school situations, then it follows that the uniform school curriculum, discipline and regimen is not suited to all. The social, psychological and physiological characteristics of adolescence are so important that a special school organization is needed to care for them.

"Investigations of the elimination of 64 to 70 per cent of the sixth grade groups before they enter high school show that the greatest single cause for dropping out of school is that children and parents are not convinced that the school is worth while.

"The school must give to each individual child the kind and amount of instruction that best fits him, and he must be permitted to advance as rapidly as his development permits, and as slowly as it requires. Furthermore, the school must use only that subject matter and those processes that are socially valuable, and it must broaden and vivify the appreciative and cultural subjects of the curriculum, and furnish social situations in which the pupils may co-operate for some worthy purpose.

"This is very different from the practice in the older educational regime which offers identical educational opportunities for all generally through the tenth grade. It is so different that there is needed a new school organization, unhampered by tradition and preconception, with a carefully alert and adaptable teaching corps, with varied industrial and athletic equipment. And there is, above all else needed, a principal who, besides the necessary executive qualifications, has infinite patience, an all-pervading faith in the potential worth-while of all boys and girls.

"For the junior high school is not fundamentally an organization, a building, an administrative scheme. It is an environment into which all adolescent boys and girls may enter and work in earnest, on some vital matter. Its immediate purposes are to prevent needless elimination, to furnish real educational guidance, to carry on prevocational education, placement and follow-up work, to see that all pupils master certain minimal essentials, to furnish a social environment, in which will develop actual situations calling for actual responses from the pupils who will then truly learn to do by doing now. Instruction in how to study, definite periods of really supervised study, co-operative work in the shop, civics and science, the departmentalization of pupils, and instruction are important devices for accomplishing these aims.

Methods in Cities Differ.

Methods of working out the general idea contained in the junior high school have varied in the different cities adopting the plan. This is necessitated because of the various interests and conditions in the various communities. Some cities have found that the rule of six years for the grade schools, two for the junior high school and four for the senior high school have been best, while a few have six for the grade, four for the junior and two for the senior high schools. However, the one most worked out and used is the one placed in operation in St. Louis, providing for six years in the grade schools, three in the junior and three in the senior high school.

Educators maintain that the proposed plan is best for both the slow student and for the pupil who works ahead of his class. They also believe that all pupils entering the junior high school, whether by promotion or transfer, should be permitted and encouraged to change from curriculum to curriculum when it becomes evident that the change is advisable.

By T. H. ROGERS.
PURCHASE of the Manual Training-Smith Academy property in St. Louis for $300,000 inaugurates the junior high school movement in the Mississippi Valley with an impetus that presages a tremendous growth within a few years. For several years students of school conditions have been working on plans that will fix the curriculum of the modern school along the line of child development, rather than run counter to it.

The idea embodied in the establishment of the junior high school is to allow the pupil as he reaches that stage in life when he thinks of life preparation to begin ideas as to what he shall do, and then allow him a greater opportunity to test his fitness for the trade, profession or occupation as well as it can be done in the school.

To do this the St. Louis school authorities will follow the lines that have been suggested by those who have strongly advocated a differentiation of school study along modern democratic lines. As a step in line with that policy, the new school, which will be inaugurated with the opening of school in September, will provide for an intermediary school between the high school and the grammar grades. As constituted in the past, the grammar schools have maintained eight grades, requiring eight years, under normal conditions, for a pupil to finish and prepare for the high school.

The junior high school, so far as it can be applied through the establishment of only one school as a test of the system, contemplates taking two years—the seventh and eighth grades—from the public school and the freshman year, or ninth grade, from the high school, and constituting the junior high school.

ities that have undertaken the plan, and in every instance it has been found that the rearrangement has been conducive to greater attendance as well as greater preparation for the child's life work.

Educational work along the lines of the junior high school among the superintendents in St. Louis and in other cities had been carried on by Ben Blewett, St. Louis superintendent of instruction, prior to his recent death. Since that time the propaganda has been carried on by his successor, Dr. J. W. Withers, with even more fervor, if that has been possible. The idea on which the junior high school theory is based is especially applicable to industrial centers, but it is by no means confined to those centers. But since all of the larger cities are industrial centers, the plans worked out have been in contemplation of industrial conditions. It means to build up a condition in consonance with the growth of the normal child, to supplement the desires of the child affecting his after life rather than to force him to accept a curriculum whether or not it appeals to him.

Dr. Withers, taking the same view of the matter that has been taken by leading educators throughout America and Europe, believes that the public schools should provide an educational system that goes along with the child and does not run counter to him. It is not only conducive to greater interest in the school work, but it also, as shown from the records in other cities that have tried out the plan, increases the length of the time that a child will attend school.

With the adolescent period, from 12 to 14 years, the child's views change, and he begins thinking more of equipment for life work. Under the old system he has had no opportunity under which he or she might study with a view to specifically fitting himself so as to better qualify for some vocation. The new arrangement will enable the child to think exactly along the lines of preparation for life. It will enable him to find himself, and thereby better equip himself for work before he leaves the public school.

Tends to Eliminate Chasm.
Under the educational and labor laws of most states, a child must remain in school until he is 14 years of age before he can go out for work. In some it is 15. This is about the age when the vast majority of them in the past have completed the grade schools, and with that change from the lower to the high school there has been an unsettlement in the mind of the child. He is at the age that he might find work, and in thousands of instances he has been permitted by his parents, even where the parent did not need the support of the child, to go to work sooner than necessary. He also has gone to work earlier than would have been necessary if the course of study had been so arranged as to appeal to the child rather than to create the chasm between the two branches of the school system.

The junior high school plan is explained on the basis that if the child is interested in the intermediate work before the time arrives for him to change schools, he will not leave when he has completed the eighth grade, but will continue at least until the junior high school course is completed. That will give him one year more of work. But surveys made by various educational departments throughout the country have shown that the percentages of increase in attendance in the high schools, where the junior high school work has been inaugurated, have been phenomenal.

Almost without exception the child interested in work more to his liking, as a result of the junior high school work, remains in school to the completion of the ninth year work to a larger degree than he did prior to the installation of the new system. A materially larger percentage, also, interested in the work, and missing the great change from the common to the high school courses, enters the senior high school and continues the line of work started in the junior high school.

In the latter school the boy or girl has an opportunity to find himself or herself. There is an opportunity for vocational research, and the child is able thus to experiment along lines that appeal to him similarly as those if he had to go to work. Then when he does leave school, and go to work, he has broader fundamental knowledge of the work in which he engages, and is thus able to make more rapid progress. At the same time he has advanced in vocational knowledge, and also has acquired more of what the teachers call cultural knowledge.

St. Louis' venture is along the line of experimentation. It will not be inaugurated throughout the city, but in certain districts where congested high school buildings make it imperative that some relief be afforded. At the same time that the relief is afforded, through the purchase of grounds and school buildings which have been used for vocational work, it enables Dr. Withers and the Board of Education to try out the plan that has been successful in Rochester, in Cleveland, Boston, Columbus, and possibly 100 other cities of the country.

While complete statistics have been prepared as to the growth of the plan

throughout the United States, through surveys made by various states and cities, still the exact number of cities adopting the plan cannot be determined. This is due to the conditions surrounding its inauguration.

Some of the cities apply it in part, some try the experiment in connection with other school work, and without working out a definite plan of work, and also without doing a harmonious arrangement of the change from one branch of school to another. This latter work, among educators, is considered an important element because it removes from the mind of the child the suggestion of stop which he receives from the old plan of two branches. When this came at the time of his change to adolescence, it produced a greater desire in the boy and girl to leave off studies when they reached the end of the common or grade school.

The new plan, in the judgment of those who have studied the system, interests the child just before or just as he experiences his physical development and implants in his mind a greater illustration of the efficacy of education. In that way it is figured that not only will the average pupil in the lower branches remain in school for one or two years longer, but that the system will be the incentive for a larger percentage remaining until they have completed the entire high school course. It is intended that the vocational work in the junior high school shall be laid out so it will entice the pupil into extending his public school work.

Every taxpayer in every city in the country is interested in the new plan. Every parent, whether or not a taxpayer, is likewise interested, because its development depends the plan to change the course of vocational training.

Some educators have maintained that the scheme of education in the country has been one of opposition to the child. They also maintain that the change to make the educational work develop with the physical development of the boy and girl will interest the pupil in the work, leave better results for the same time devoted to school, and, as great as either, will induce a larger number of them to remain in school a longer time than they otherwise would have done.

The average boy and girl, educators maintain, want to apply themselves in experiments. They do not want to get all their knowledge out of books. They want to feel that their personality could be broadened if they only had opportunity to get out and study what will be their living later on in life. If does not come to them in just that language, but that is the conclusion they reach, nevertheless. By providing the opportunity to "find themselves" while still in school, the proponents of the junior high school believe that the incentive to the boy and girl is provided.

Dr. Withers Cites Advantages.

Advantages of the new plan have been set out by Dr. Withers, in what he has termed arguments in favor of the system. These ideas are based on the work performed in other cities of the country that have adopted the junior school idea. He says:

"When first established, the common school took over from the district school its work intended originally for young men and women, but wholly unsuited for children. As a result, the school continually worked against, in place of with, nature. At a time when reason is developing, the children are put to task at memory work, such as language study. When memory is active, the children are put at reasoning work.

"The break between the grades and the high school occurs in the worst possible point in the course. This is a period of adolescence, vagaries and hallucinations. A fatal belief that the pupil has finished something in completing the eighth grade assures the maximum number of irreparable mistakes. If the pupil could be held in a familiar environment for a year longer, such mistakes would be greatly reduced.

"The junior high school exploits the various possible powers or aptitudes, leaving to the senior high school the function of especially preparing them for a definite pursuit or for definite continuation in higher institutions.

"The departmental organization helps to satisfy the inherent impulse for movement. The passage of pupils from room to room, the changes in environment, the differences in voice, manner and methods of the several teachers, provide needed variation in school life.

The Community Feeling.

"The junior high school develops a greater cohesion of feeling than now obtains. With our present plan, students drift into the high school in small numbers and from many schools. They are wholly lacking in anything approaching a community feeling or a feeling of group responsibility."

Not only every teacher and member of educational boards are interested in the proposed change, but every boy and girl of school age, and especially every parent, is interested, because it involves a change in the treatment of the pupil as well as increases the opportunity of the child to get hold of himself. The system will not accomplish the results of itself. It will afford the opportunity, and go a great way toward accomplishment. But the main thing is that the parent and the

Minister of posts and telegrams—M. Nikitine (social democrat).
State controller—F. A. Golovine (constitutional democrat).
Minister of agriculture—M. Tschernoff (socialist).
Assistant minister of war—M. Savinkoff.

Foreign Minister Terestchenko informs The Associated Press that the Petroff, who again becomes minister of agriculture, has been fully rehabilitated, his accusations having withdrawn charges that he had relations with Germany.

FAITHLESS; MUST DIE.

London, Aug. 6.—Gen. Maeovsky, commander of the guards corps which headed the Russian retreat on the southwest front, has been ordered shot according to a dispatch to the Post from Petrograd. This sentence came after a court martial which was ordered by Gen. Korniloff, commander-in-chief, for non-compliance of his order to shoot deserters.

KERENSKY WILL SERVE.

Petrograd, Aug. 6.—Premier Kerensky has returned to Petrograd and withdrawn his resignation. He attended a ministerial meeting on Saturday evening and afterward conferred with various political leaders.

M. Kerensky has issued a manifesto in which he declares that he considers it impossible when the country is threatened with defeat without and disintegration within to refuse the heavy task again entrusted to him, which he regards as an express order from the country to construct a strong revolutionary government to carry out the principles already laid down.

"At the same time," said the manifesto, "I consider it inevitable to introduce changes in the order and distribution of government work without allowing myself to be influenced by the thought that these changes will increase my responsibility in the supreme direction of the affairs of state."

The all-night political conference at the winter palace, which was concluded Saturday morning by the passage of a resolution in which confidence in Premier Kerensky was expressed by each of the five parties represented and in which he was invited to form his own cabinet, was conducted in the strictest order, but with intense emotion. All the participants were obviously convinced that the decision which was to be reached meant Russia's regeneration or her ruin.

In conversation with the Associated Press correspondent, who was permitted to be present, the ministers declared the conference to be the most momentous event in the history of the empire since 1913, when, during the troubled times of the Polish war and internal anarchy, the election of the first Romanoff by a similar conference of notables at Moscow saved the country from dissolution.

The strong hand of Kerensky is again at the helm in Russia where the personnel of the organized cabinet has been agreed upon under his premiership. The constitutional democrats are represented in the list.

Berlin's report of the Flanders fighting asserts that strong attacks were delivered by the British yesterday between the Ypres-Menin road and the Lys, all of which were repulsed. There is considerable more activity on the Austro-Italian front and today's official bulletin from Rome tells of an official Italian line. On the Italian front, the Italian lines were maintained.

How Osteopathic Hay Fever Cures— Defied the Hosts of Pollen.

Hay fever has been capitulating to osteopathic treatment in a very satisfactory way for three or four years. In this period the attention of the profession has been focused as never before upon this and kindred afflictions, such as "rose cold," catarrh and other affections of the nasal and pharyngeal passages, and as a result knowledge and skill in controlling these ills have gone steadily forward. Facts interest everybody. Let us see what has been done by osteopathic ear, nose and throat specialists that physicians of other schools have not been able to duplicate. Everybody, of course, knows that there is no drug cure for hay fever. An osteopathic ear, nose and throat specialist opened a free clinic for the treatment of hay fever in Philadelphia, August 3, 1915, and continued it six weeks. In that time seventy-nine patients presented themselves for treatment. Fifty cases stuck to the treatment faithfully. Of these forty-six cases reported "attack arrested," four reported "fair improvement," while no benefit was reported for the twenty-nine remaining cases, quite a number of whom quit taking treatment and were lost track of. The spirit manifested by these patients—ordinarily so skeptical and despondent—was one of hopefulness and enthusiasm. Almost everyone seemed to be satisfied with his improvement. Some said they were cured and that all their symptoms had disappeared. These, of course, were cautioned to continue until discharged, but, as stated, a number of them failed to do so. Various of these patients said it was the first summer in years that they could continue at their employment.

One woman after six treatments went into the country where there were large quantities of golden rod and rag weed. She reported she had not sneezed once. She said that in other years she would have almost sneezed her head off under such conditions.

Another case had suffered from hay fever for thirty years and all that time had been a most annoying snorer. Not only was this gentleman delighted with his emancipation from sneezing but his whole family shared in his gratification because they said "treatment stopped father's snoring as well as relieving his hay fever symptoms."

Other gratifying cases are worth comment.

Case No. 18. A woman, aged 48, suffered from hay fever eleven years. Obtained complete relief. Sneezing stopped, eyes stopped itching, no mucous discharge from nose, continued her housework in comfort which she had not been able to do for years in hay fever season.

Case No. 27. Former, aged 36, suffered from hay fever twelve years, always followed by distressing asthma. Result of treatment: All hay fever symptoms disappeared and asthma was entirely relieved. Worked in fields of corn in tassel and in rag weed without bringing on an attack. Reported that he has been able to work around corn in bloom during hay fever season.

Case No. 36. A woman, aged 26, suffered from hay fever eight years. Said that all symptoms of the disease disappeared as a result of her treatment and that this was the first year she could sleep during an attack. She was gratified that her asthma, too, was entirely relieved.

Case No. 51. Man, aged 46, suffered from hay fever fifteen years. Result of treatment: Says he feels so much better he has forgotten what hay fever is like. Riding in his automobile in the dust and wind makes him feel good whereas it used to bring on an attack.

The incident of the woman who went out in the fields of golden rod to see whether or not it would bring on an attack gave the founder of this hay fever clinic the idea of making a good test of this treatment on a number of patients. He learned that eight or ten others of his patients had also passed through patches of golden rod and rag weed without an attack of sneezing and decided to make a thorough test with about thirty patients, all of whom had taken at least three or four treatments each. Accordingly he sent an invitation to thirty of them to come next clinic day and take a trip into the country. Twenty-one reported in time to join the excursion.

Severe Test of Osteopathic Treatment. "We went in eight large touring cars, having in the party six newspaper representatives, five men and one woman, two of whom had been patients, and also five osteopathic physicians," reports the osteopath who organized this interesting clinic.

"We drove over twenty-five miles of dusty road in many places lined on both sides with golden rod and rag weed. This ride in itself was one of the severest tests for a hay fever sufferer. Not one sneezed! At length we came to a large field containing acres of golden rod mingled with ragweed in full bloom. We drove into the field and alighted. It was a tense moment for me as I felt that osteopathy was on trial. The patients circulated freely among the flowers and weeds, knocking off the pollen which floated about in little clouds. We remained in the field twenty minutes which seemed an hour to me as I saw in the clouds of pollen the crucial nature of the test. Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist, 313 Shook Building, Phone 2904. Fort four days. Not one sneezed while in Wayne, Ind.—Advertisement.

NEGRO IS CERTAIN HE WILL MAKE A SOLDIER

Had No Time to Linger in Court Because of Call.

James Davis, dark as clouded midnight, was visibly nervous in police court, Monday morning, when he listened to a patrolman tell how intoxicated Davis had been on Saturday night.

"I ain't got no time to stay here, judge," explained Davis when called forward for testimony. "I have been called to report for the army."

The negro produced a crease worn and dirty piece of paper which had been a notification to appear for physical examination at the Hoagland school on Monday morning.

"Do you think you will pass the examination?" asked Judge H. W. Kerr. "Sure, I'm going to be a soldier," said Davis.

"Walk over to the other side of the room and back," commanded the judge.

Davis tramped to the second steel post and returned to the judge's desk. The magistrate watched his movement carefully. The negro's feet sounded a little heavy as they struck the floor with a sort of padding sound, but his broad shoulders seemed capable of heavy action.

"I guess I will give you a chance to go to war," said the judge and motioned for Davis to be on his way toward the Hoagland school.

A Bit Nervous. Emmett O'Hara admits that he has been a bit nervous since the day he registered for a place in freedom's army. His malady has grown upon him since he was picked for service in the front rank. He sought solace in the wine cup on Saturday after he had been notified to report for examination at Rockport, Ill.

O'Hara was drunk when officers arrested him, late Saturday evening. He has been employed in Fort Wayne for several weeks. He is held in jail until Tuesday morning and arrangements will be made to have him examined in Fort Wayne.

Cannot Get Brother. George Lawson, rancher, had not heard of his brother, Eric, for many weeks before the police wrote George to come and get Eric, last Thursday. George hastened to Fort Wayne.

Eric, who has been shown to be feeble minded was held on a loitering charge. He is 29 years old, he told the court, and has not been registered for draft. He was turned over to the sheriff on a "slacker" charge by Judge Kerr, Monday morning.

So George, who came after his lost brother, may be forced to return home without his charge. George believes that it might have been well to have made an investigation of the case before sending for him.

Who Is Raymond? The more this young man is questioned the deeper the mystery of his identity grows.

He said he was George Faris and that he was raised in Pittsburgh. He was held on a loitering charge last Friday, while the police wrote to the Pennsylvania city. Reply received Sunday says that no such youth was reared in the smoky town.

"I am Raymond Lewis; I was born in Cleveland, Ohio," said the young man, Monday, after his first statement was branded as a figment.

The large youth will tell to Uncle Sam, as Judge Kerr bound him to federal authorities for investigation about his conscription status. The young man says he is 20 years old.

"I don't believe anything you say," Judge Kerr told him.

Other Police Court Cases. Jake Long, colored, of Holman street, will be tried on Tuesday on an assault and battery charge. It is alleged that he struck his wife, Daisy Long, and threatened her life with a revolver on Sunday.

Clyde A. Jackson will be tried on next Monday on a charge of stealing a diamond ring from a Baltimore, Md., citizen, who visited here a few weeks ago.

Jack Duval and Homer Fisk, charged with stealing an automobile, will be returned to Akron, Ohio, for trial Monday.

Clara Branch, charged with defrauding a boardinghouse keeper, is held under $50 bond for trial on Tuesday.

Brisco Holmes, 38, was totting an unloaded rifle when arrested on Holman street, on a drunk charge, Saturday evening. He explained to police that he was hunting squirrels. On Monday morning he was fined $5 and costs.

Other intoxication cases were: Joseph Morgan, fined $1 and costs and sentenced to fifteen days at road work; Jack Smith, fined $5 and costs. Harry Vaughn, Joe Steiger and Lee Sachs were released.

Harlen Martin and Gilbert Jackson, held on loitering charges were bound held until Wednesday, under $25 bond, on a like charge.

Elvay Saylor, charged with trespass will be tried Thursday.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM AT ROBISON PARK

Large Crowd Attends Flag Raising and Old Soldiers' Day.

Not even a terrific thunder storm, which broke over Robison park Sunday, dampened the ardor of the large crowd which gathered there for the patriotic demonstration and flag raising. Many veterans and auxiliaries will remember for many days the program which was given.

The patriotic feature of the day was the flag raising, which was held at 3 o'clock, with Capt. W. A. Kelsey in charge of the ceremonies. The colors were hoisted by S. J. Hartshorn, the oldest civil war veteran in Fort Wayne. During the dedication ceremonies, Corporal L. W. Johnson, a veteran of eighty years, recited an original poem, entitled "What Caused the War." Miss Doris Sion Smith also gave a patriotic recitation. Captain Kelsey made an address and the Auburn band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

The parade formed at the pavilion at 4 o'clock, the Auburn band leading, closely followed by the veterans. Each marcher carried a small flag. Among the organizations in line were the civil war veterans, the members of the W. R. C. and the Ladies of the G. A. R. S. M. Hinch, department commander of the G. A. R., presided at the meeting and addresses were given by Avery M. Groves and Attorney Howard Benninghoff.

"I Believe in the Power of Newspaper Advertising"

THE daily press, I have found, is a prime factor in commercial activity of every kind. It is invaluable in broadening a market and in promoting understanding between the industrial institution and the public.

The press, in a sense, belongs to the public and enjoys its confidence and respect. That is fitting and proper, for I know of no greater and more unselfish force that is working for the interest of the public.

The unit of our national life is the community. On the prosperity of the community depends the prosperity of the nation. Fortunate is that community which has a good live newspaper, for its editorial and advertising activities are second to no force in building up and developing its territory.

Our civilization is based on specialization and specialization is based on the finding of a market for the product of the specialist. The newspaper finds this market and develops it, thereby developing the home community, making it bigger and more prosperous and a more satisfying place in which to live.

Before a newspaper can make itself a power, it has to absorb quantities of money and the best and untiring efforts of its many directors. Its founders had to show their faith in the community because a newspaper, more than any other commercial institution, identifies itself with its locality and lives and grows only through that identification. It is time that we recognized what the founding and developing of the press required on the part of the newspaper pioneers and those now in charge.

The press has made itself a great economic factor in the commercial activity of this age. It has demonstrated its worth to a point where I can say without hesitancy that I believe in the power of newspaper advertising to create, intensify and broaden business.

To gain a full realization of the influence of newspaper advertising, one has only to imagine the effect upon the business of this country of a sudden stoppage of all means of public announcements.

FRIENDS READY TO AID MRS. DE SAULLES

Help for Her Will Come from Her Native City It is Said.

Minneapolis, N. Y., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Blanca Errazuriz de Saulles will not be without friends when she is called for trial for the murder of her former husband, John Longer de Saulles, last Friday night.

Relatives in Valparaiso it was learned today were not only ready to aid her in the forthcoming trial, but were planning to obtain permanent custody for her of her four and a half year old son, John Longer de Saulles, Jr.

Cable messages from South America assuring Mrs. de Saulles that her family had not deserted her and that her brother would return at once to the United States and assist her during her trial were received at Minneapolis yesterday.

It was because of Mrs. de Saulles' devotion to her son and also the fear that the husband she had divorced on the ground of infidelity was planning to keep the child from her that she killed him, according to statements made public by her attorney.

SHADY BROOK LOT WON BY ELLA M. KRATZSCH

The free lot, No. 95, in Shady Brook park, which was given away on the auction last Saturday at 5 p. m., was won by Ella M. Kratzsch, 518 West Second street. Mrs. Kratzsch is the wife of Fred Kratzsch, clerk in the Ruride Dry Goods company. The lucky number was 11565.

About 1,000 people attended the drawing, which was held in the following manner: Those present chose three judges, namely, Philip Titus, Dr. Rufus and Mrs. Walburn. The stubs of the tickets were collected and twenty-three were drawn out by a little girl. The twenty-third one was 11565.

Shady Brook park addition has been very popular, and the lots have been snapped up rapidly. It is an indication that the people of Fort Wayne are realizing more and more the value of improved property, and is a splendid evidence of the continuous growth of the city. The success of Shady Brook park is a credit to J. S. Peddicord and Jr.

Cable messages from South America assuring Mrs. de Saulles that her family had not deserted her and that her brother would return at once to the United States and assist her during her trial were received at Minneapolis yesterday.

WOMEN AS SECTION

HANDS ON RAILWAY

Pennsylvania Experiments in That Line Prove Plan Practicable.

"While preparations are under way for the employment of a lot of women on the Pennsylvania, it will probably interest The Sentinel readers to learn that we have had a woman section gang at work for the past month," said a man connected with the division engineer's office.

FEMALE SECTION GANG.

"There are eight women in the gang," he continued, "and in working track, arranging ballast and doing other light work assigned to them, they are proving as efficient as men." The accompanying picture represents these women at work and it also shows the neat and well ballasted appearance of the tracks over which they have jurisdiction. This party known as section gang No. 33, territory between Hobart and La Porte. The women reside in the latter town and are respected and well known.

"We are pleased with the success of the experiment with women on the section and have decided to employ more of them," said the man connected with the division engineer's office. "We want six in Fort Wayne as soon as we can get them. These are wanted to work about the yards, picking up paper and cladding up the tracks and premises generally. The work is not hard and women can do it just as well as can the men," continued the official. "We will also establish women section gangs in numerous places on the division if we find good women willing to accept employment," he added.

The work of installing rest rooms and lavatories in the local shops of the Pennsylvania is progressing and the company will soon be in condition to take on more female help in the shops, according to plans announced several days ago.

Bowser Military Club to Give Unique Entertainment.

"We will know by tomorrow how Pete Dink must be addressed to win the $5 reward," said C. M. Smith, who is taking an active part in the arrangements for the social and band concert. "He will be there all right and some one should find him," continued Mr. Smith.

The boy scouts of this city have gone in to sell tickets for the Pete Dink social and band concert which is to be given Thursday night by the Bowser Military club. "There will be refreshments Thursday night to tickle the palate of everyone. The menu calls for most everything from hot hamburger to the cold-cold goods made," says Mr. Smith.

THEY SALUTE CAPT. WILLIAMS.

(Service News of the Nickel Plate Road.)

The editor of Service News is pleased to display in another column the picture of an old and beloved Nickel Plate employee in the uniform of an officer of the United States army. We imagine we can hear almost each officer and employ from one end of the Nickel Plate road to the other, say, "Why, that is Harry Williams." No sir! It is now Captain Harry N. Williams, Co. B, 16th Engineers, Railway, United States Army, and probably the next time we hear of our old friend it will be from "Somewhere in France." Capt. Williams, we salute you. We are proud of you and we will miss you. It is our earnest hope that you may return safely, and we assure you that a cordial welcome will be given you by your old comrades on the "best little road" "Somewhere in America."

METER DEPARTMENT MOVING.

The greater portion of the meter part of the General Electric works is now located in its new home, the new building on the south side of Wall street, known as No. 19. The last to move therein was Foreman L. P. Pershing, who has charge of the meter parts department, who has been located on the fourth floor. W. Blarbaum, of the meter machine room, has also located on the fourth floor, but W. Shillington, of the meter coil wiring department, is located on the fifth floor. J. B. Mills, the head of the meter department, has not yet moved, his new quarters not being ready for occupancy.

ROME CITY FILLING UP.

The cottages at Rome City are filling up now, though during the early part of the summer there were more of them empty than at any previous mid-summer season in the history of the plant. George R. Ruple, Pennsylvania machinist, who is known as the "Cottage King" because of the number of cottages he has for rent at Rome City, said this morning that all of his cottages were occupied this week for the first time this season.

FIRST LIEUTENANT NOW.

William Bryan, a first lieutenant in the engineers' department of the United States army, spent an hour or two at the General Electric works this morning. He was employed there prior to his enlistment, about three months ago. For the past two or three months he has been in training at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., receiving a commission of first lieutenant last week and ordered to report for assignment at Chicago at once. He went to that city this afternoon. During the latter part of his employment at the Electric works Lieutenant Bryan was a tester.

BACK FROM OUTING PARTY.

The Misses Alma Bloemke and Clara Miller, of the Wayne Knitting Mills; Misses Esther and Mildred Sauerwein, of the General Electric works; Miss Minnie Bell, of the Cline grocery; and Miss Bertha Koerber, of the Koerber jewelry store, who composed a jolly party that spent two weeks at Star Lake, have returned and resumed their respective duties. The young ladies occupied a tent at the lakes and put in the time boating, bathing and fishing. They say they had a good time.

QUITS KNITTING MILLS.

R. W. Smith has resigned his position in the advertising department of the Wayne Knitting Mills, after a service of upwards of twelve years. He has accepted a position at St. Joseph, Mich., with the Cooper-Wells company and his duties there will be about the same as those at the Knitting Mills—advertising the sales department. Better salary was the inducement to make the change.

HAD HAND LACERATED.

While operating a machine at the Wayne Knitting Mills yesterday Edwin Orr got one of his hands in it and the member was badly injured. Some of the fingers were so badly cut that at first it was feared amputation of one or two of them would be necessary. It developed later that the hand could be saved in its entirety, but it will be some time before the young man will be able to work.

DISCHARGED FROM COMPANY E.

Clifford Kirkpatrick, a tester at the General Electric works, received notice this morning of his honorable discharge from Company E because of being the main support of dependent relatives. Mr. Kirkpatrick saw service on the border last winter and spring.

Loyal lodge No. 85, Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, will hold one of its social teas at the home of Mrs. R. E. McNally, 710 West DeWald street, Wednesday afternoon. All members and friends are cordially invited. The following ladies compose the committee: Mesdames Craig, Corrigan, Castle, Clippinger, Cornelius, Clements, Deahl, Drevett, Ellison, Eccleston, Ellinger, Fackler, Dent, Dittman, Crance.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Clem Hake, of the Pennsylvania air-brake department, is taking a lay off. E. Crawford is a new laborer at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop. George Kedchum, a cabbuilder who had been sick, resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning. E. A. Ruess, a machinist, has been transferred from the Pennsylvania machine shop to the roundhouse. W. S. Snyder, a machinist's helper, and H. R. Arnett, a laborer, resigned positions at the Pennsylvania machine shop. Joseph Schallenberger, Pennsylvania machinist, is out on a vacation this week. He will spend a part of the time at the lakes.

George H. Waldschmidt, assistant paymaster at the General Electric works, has gone to Star Lake and other points in Michigan for a two weeks' vacation. Mrs. Frank Alexander has returned from Bellevue, where she spent a month with her parents, Conductor and Mrs. C. Sauer.

Don Evans, vice president of Rhine-smith, Simonson & Evans, is taking a vacation this week. With his wife he is on the farm of her parents, near Claypool, Ind.

E. Kroger, a machinist's helper, who resigned a position at the Pennsylvania shops yesterday, has taken employment at the General Electric works.

C. W. Kelley, toolkeeper for Foreman H. J. Peters, of the tool supplies department of the General Electric works, has gone to Lake James to spend the week.

Mrs. Henry Hohman and Harold Hohman, wife and son, respectively, of Machinist Henry Hohman, of the Pennsylvania shops, are at Detroit visiting her sister.

Charles Baker, assistant to General Foreman W. H. Schwartz, of the dynamo assembling department of the General Electric works, is at Rome City enjoying a vacation. A. J. Huber, of the Pennsylvania planing mills, returned to Lake James this morning to resume the search for the body of his nephew, who was drowned while in swimming at the narrows several days ago.

Earl Timmis, a Pennsylvania boiler-maker, who has been suffering from tonsillitis for several days, was so ill this morning that he had to give up work at the shops and go home about 3 o'clock.

Ernest Piepenbrink, who had been at the lakes a week, resumed charge of a bolt machine at the Pennsylvania lathe department last night.

The last meeting of the 1916-1917 series of the Electro-Technic club will be held next Thursday, when the board will be cleaned and the club turned over to the new officers and committees in good shape. A. A. Serva is the new president.

Alfred Meyer, who sustained injuries to his face and eyes when a pipe that was being heated burst while he was at work in the Pennsylvania copper shop two or three weeks ago, has left the hospital and is getting along nicely. He called at the shops yesterday to see the boys.

Miss Mary McDonald, a trained nurse, is presiding at the hospital and dispensary of the General Electric works this week. Miss Frances Steele, who has that office regularly, has gone to Clear Lake to remain a week.

General Manager F. S. Hunting, of the Mrs. Jacob Waldschmidt, wife of the Pennsylvania shopman, is at Star Lake for a two weeks' visit with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Basworth, whose husband owns some of the concessions at the park and elsewhere about that resort. George Waldschmidt, of the cost department of the General Electric works, is with his mother at Star Lake.

The news of the death by drowning of Homer Mills, which occurred Sunday, was a shock to the officials and employees of the General Electric works, where the father, Frank E. Mills, worked so long and is held in such high regard. J. B. Mills, the head of the meter department of the General Electric works, is an uncle of the lad.

William Wiedelma has been assigned to clerical work in the operating department of the General Electric works. Two months or more ago he lost a hand, when his arm was caught in the cogs of a machine he was operating at the factory, the injury incapacitating him for that kind of work in the future. Another new employee in the operating department is George M. Watson, who became a wireman yesterday.

Walter L. Niemeyer resumed his place at the desk in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop office this morning, after an absence of two or three weeks to rest up. He spent the time at the home of his folks in the country. Mr. Niemeyer has been ailing for some time, having symptoms of appendicitis, and is still suffering, but is better than he was a few weeks ago.

The vacation season is now in full force at the Wayne Knitting Mills and "doubling up" on the office and other work is the rule as far as possible. Among the employees out this week are H. Kaiser, L. Vetter, J. Baumann, H. Wilhelm, E. Weiss, C. Schwen, O. Baade, H. Wihmert, T. Roegner, G. Sutton, C. Tegtmeyer, A. Bagman, T. Ortleib, J. Benton, J. Bachman and R. Siebold.

METER THIEF SHOWS MANIA FOR FIXTURES

James LaBell Has Been in Prison Many Times for Stealing.

James LaBell, 40, does not believe in allowing unnecessary fixtures to adorn the interior of a house. He has been in the business of "cleaning out" dwellings for several years. Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, in charge of the burglary department of Fort Wayne police, learned that fact when he began to receive returns to enquiries about the man.

LaBell is serving a sentence of 170 days at the state farm because he stole a meter from a Fort Wayne home two weeks ago. His penalty was a fine of $10 and costs and 150 days at the farm. He was arrested by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel when LaBell was trying to peddle the stolen meter.

The man had not left Fort Wayne for his term at the state institution when Brennan began to receive accounts of his past exploits. Under the name of Frank Fountain, LaBell was sentenced for house breaking at Concord, Mass., in 1893. In 1898 he was sentenced again for the same offense in the same city.

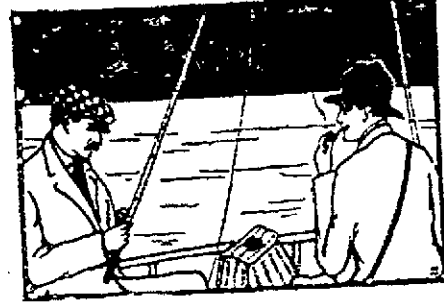

On May 21, 1906, LaBell was convicted of stealing lead pipes from vacant houses in Milwaukee. Two years later he was sentenced for a similar offense in Chicago. On Oct. 11, 1916, he was granted a suspended sentence on a larceny charge, in Chicago, and on Oct. 21, 1916, he was convicted of house breaking in Chicago and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, with an added fine of $100. He had been released from prison but a short time when he came to Fort Wayne and stole the meter.

SAYS C. M. RICHEY

SIGN PAINTER TELLS OF HEALTH AND VIGOR GAINED THROUGH IRONATED HERBS.

Ironated Herbs with Pepsin is superior to all forms of organic iron for the reason that pepsin in concentrated form, has immediate action on the gastric juices, thereby, causing prompt assimilation of the food and enabling the organic iron in liquid form to be carried to the veins, forming thick, red blood.

The following is the statement of C. M. Richey, a sign painter of 315 East Main street, Muncie, Ind. Mr. Richey, who has been taking Ironated Herbs with Pepsin for his run-down condition, in speaking of the new strength and vigor which he has obtained through this efficient preparation, says: "I have been suffering for some time from a general run-down condition. I caught a severe cold some weeks ago, which left me in a very weakened condition. I have tried a number of remedies, but none seemed to benefit me. I heard so much of this new medicine, Ironated Herbs, that I got a bottle, and am delighted with the results. My appetite is improved, in fact, I am hungry all the time, and am rapidly gaining strength and I am sure another bottle will entirely restore my health. It is a pleasure to recommend this modern medicine to all."

DIVORCEE NOT A DEPENDENT.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—A divorced woman drawing alimony has not the status of a dependent that a wife has. This ruling with regard to draft exemptions was received here today from Provost Marshal General Crowder in reply to a question asked by a divorced woman who wanted her former husband exempted because she was dependent on the alimony which he paid her.
